WHY BRAVE ARCTIC'S ICY COLD?

Part-Time Trapper Gets Furs Without Leaving City Limits

By PETE LOUDON

A thriving trapline which snares its owner hundreds of dollars annually in pelts of mink, muskrat, raccoon and otter, operates within a mile of Victoria City Hall, it was revealed today.

In the last month, Alex Patterson, who must be one of Canada's most urban trappers, has taken 300 muskrat and five mink.

Most of the traps are within sight-range of thousands of Victorians who probably imagine the fur industry is relegated to frozen Arctic wastes or the rugged regions of the interior.

It isn't so. And Vancouver Island Coach Lines mechanic, 34-year-old Patterson, has got the pelts to prove it—pelts that rank with the best taken anywhere in Canada.

120 TRAPS IN U.S.
Patterson, who is married and has three children, lives at 897 Vernon between trips over his 120 traps. He holds a trapper's license which costs him $10 a year.

He's been making Victoria district furbearing animals pay off in big money since he was seven, keeping the secret to himself.

But between duck-hunters, mischievous children and wandering dogs and cats, he's got trouble now which only some publicity can cure.

"Please," he says, "tell them to leave my traps alone." Eight were stolen this year.

He suspects duck-hunters with walking off with many of his expensive traps. Children who have come across some of his furry victims have destroyed valuable pelts by poking at his catch with pointed sticks. And what dogs and cats and carnivorous birds do to a prime pelt can't be printed.

DOGS TROUBLESOME

Dogs cause him other trouble too. Once he caught one in a muskrat trap and the SPCA threatened him with prosecution.

Animals and children are quite safe if they don't get too nosy. Alex's traps are set to provide a quick death by drowning in the water. Only muskrats, which he calls the worst pest to farmers and poultry raisers, have to be dispatched with an air-pistol.

Born on a Keating farm, Alex turned to trapping when he was seven. Muskrats were burrowing and damming water on the farm and rapidly turning it into a swamp. While at school he trapped as a hobby. Fourteen years ago he became a mechanic at Vancouver Island Coach Lines. He works nights and on three months every winter, he devotes every morning to a tour of his traps.

Using his car, it takes him three hours and $40 a month in gas to check his lines in Bowker Creek, Colquitz River, Gorge, and the harbor area.

KNOWS ALL ANGLES

The summers Alex spends in study of animal eating and living habits. He knows their tracks and reads them like a newspaper. He knows a type of burrow that muskrats eat which discolors their pelts unless they are skinned immediately.

He knows how owls and eagles prey on his lines and he knows the secret weapon of the mink.

He saw a rare golden eagle pounce on one of his traps once and become snared. Largest ever taken in B.C. west of the Rockies, it had a 56-inch wingspread. He presented it to the provincial museum.

Mink, says Alex, are armed like skunks, with scent bags. So far they've always missed him, but been close enough to make his eyes water, he recalls. Muskrats and 'coons will tame like rabbits in three weeks, he says, but if they bite, they rarely let go.

FARMERS WANT RAND FORMULA

REGINA (CP)—Fred Woloshyn, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, said Tuesday night that a union delegation received a "cool" reception from the provincial cabinet on union proposals for a modified version of the Rand formula for agriculture.

The union in its annual brief to the cabinet Tuesday asked legislation to implement a tax on Saskatchewan farms for support of the farm organization. The original proposal, based on a labor decree, would make the tax compulsory although farmers would not have to join the union.

Halifax Tug Races to Aid Helpless Ship

Freighter Holed, Without Pumps

HALIFAX (CP) — The tug Foundation Josephine raced through the North Atlantic today with a battery of portable pumps needed to keep a listing British freighter afloat.

The tug was last reported about 180 miles from the turbulent patch of ocean south of Newfoundland where the 7,074-ton merchantman La Orilla is riding out a 40-knot gale with her plates holed and her bilge pumps useless.

Agents for the stricken vessel here said La Orilla carried a cargo of lead concentrates which tons of sea water pouring into No. 2 hold had turned "into nothing but mud." The sludge had seeped into the bilges, putting the pumps out of commission.

MIDNIGHT RENDEZVOUS
The Josephine, veteran of many a sea salvage and towing operation, was expected to reach La Orilla's position 280 miles south of Cape Race, Nfld., about midnight.

The freighter will be towed here if pumps can be put aboard in time to keep her from sinking.

Capt. T. L. Bradford, master of the 7,047-ton merchantman, reported Tuesday that gales and giant seas punched a hole below the waterline and water was pouring into No. 2 hold.

He said the ship had a 12-degree list and there was a danger her cargo would shift.

NO WORD OF LEAVING

Messages from Capt Bradford made no mention of leaving the stricken vessel.

She was en route to La Have with cargo picked up here and at Saint John, N.B.

The United States Coast Guard diverted the cutter Cook Inlet, en route to Boston from Argentina, Nfld., after intercepting distress calls from La Orilla.

The U.S. military sea transport service's Blue Jacket pushed her way through storm-tossed waves from Argentina and the freighter Tel Aviv moved alongside the stricken ship.

Will Walk Off Jobs

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Union representatives for 94 electricians at Burrard Dry Dock here announced the workers will walk off their jobs Thursday to back up wage demands. The walkout would put another 800 workers at the shipyard out of work.

Dr. Sheppard's Father Reported Seriously Ill

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, 65-year-old father of convicted wife-killer Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, lay gravely ill in Cleveland Clinic today with pleurisy.

News of his condition was brought to Sheppard Tuesday afternoon at the county jail here where he is being held pending a court of appeals ruling on a defense motion for a new trial.

The ruling is expected Monday on Dr. Sam's Dec. 21 conviction for second-degree murder in the July 4 bludgeoning-slaying of his 31-year-old pregnant wife.

TWO RAF BOMBERS MISSING; 16 ABOARD

LONDON (AP)—Two four-engined RAF bombers carrying 16 men disappeared over the wind-whipped Atlantic Tuesday night while on practice flights.

A sea and air hunt is being pressed in an area about 180 miles southwest of Land's End. Dense cloud and a 29-knot wind hampered the search.

The two Shackleton bombers left the St. Eval RAF base in Cornwall early Tuesday evening.

Shackletons are long-range maritime aircraft which carry life rafts and life belts.

Spectacular Crash Sends 4 to Hospital

B.C. Official Trapped in Wreck After Rush-Hour Collision on Hillside

Two persons suffered multiple fractures and two others escaped with minor injuries in a spectacular two-car collision at Blackwood and Hillside at 8.20 a.m. today.

Injured were:

John Gawthrop, 60, 1115 Leonard. He received a fractured left hip and knee and was in a bad state of shock on arrival at Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Stapleton, 24, 164 Cambridge. She suffered multiple fractures of the pelvis and a fractured left shoulder.

RCMP Officer Arnold Gawthrop, 21, 1115 Leonard, was treated for an injured left side and multiple bruises and discharged from hospital.

Rudolph Zembrod, 16, 1202 Fort, was also discharged after treatment for minor hurts.

Two ambulances and one police pumper car were used to rush the injured to hospital.

Police said John Gawthrop, former regional director of the provincial government development division and now business manager of the provincial mental hospital, was the driver of a car travelling north on Blackwood.

He was pulling out into Hillside when he collided with a 1955 model car driven by Zembrod.

Damage was heavy to both autos and police had to use a bar to free the elder Gawthrop from his vehicle.

After the impact, the Gawthrop car climbed a curb, went across a sidewalk and onto a flower bed at 2660 Blackwood.

SIDE SMASHED

Left side of the Gawthrop car was smashed in, both windshields were broken, the dashboard pushed in and both front and back seats bent.

Front of the 1955 auto was smashed and the steering wheel bent. It was also believed the frame was bent.

The 1955 car is owned by Frank Mack, 2537 Killarney.

Zembrod was taking the car to a garage for its first 1,000-mile check-up.

Amateur Club Wins Soccer Cup Replay

LONDON (Reuters)—Bishop Auckland, a leading northern amateur club, swept into the fourth round of the English Football Association Cup competition today.

They outplayed their professional Second Division opponents, Ipswich Town, to win 3-0. The match was one of seven third-round replays contested today on frozen, snow-covered turf.

Other scores:

Bradford City 2, Brentford 2 (tie after extra time).

Darlington 2, Hartlepool United 2 (tie after extra time).

Liverpool 1, Lincoln City 0 (after extra time).

Manchester United 4, Reading 1.

Stoke City 1, Bury 1 (tie, abandoned eight minutes from end of extra time because of snow).

Hammaraskjold Due Back at N.Y. Tomorrow

News of Venture to Win Release Of 11 Prisoners Eagerly Awaited

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States expects to get official word on the success or failure of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's efforts to win freedom for 11 U.S. airmen jailed in Red China soon after he arrives in New York Thursday.

This was announced today by state department press officer Henry Suydam who insisted that this government still is completely in the dark on the outcome of Hammarskjold's mission to Peking.

Suydam said he knows of "no present plan" for Hammarskjold to report to President Eisenhower or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on his face-to-face talks in Peking with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai.

He said he expects that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U.S. representative at the UN, will see Hammarskjold soon after the secretary-general arrives in New York.

American officials fervently hoped for release of the American fliers before exponents of a China blockade try to force a showdown.

Canadian Reported Dead In Kentucky Tragedy

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Two planes collided in the air several miles southwest of the Greater Cincinnati airport near here today, killing 15 persons.

Ten passengers in a Trans World Airlines plane and three crew members were killed. The other two persons were in a Douglas DC-3 plane.

(One Canadian, Stanley W. Wharton, Ottawa, was reported aboard.)

What caused the two planes to collide may never be learned. The airport management said the TWA craft had been cleared only a few minutes earlier and that the other plane was not known to be in the vicinity.

The airliner was en route to Dayton and Cleveland, Ohio.

The other plane, with pilot Arthur Werkhaven and co-pilot Edward Agner of Battle Creek, Mich., was said to be owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lennep, and came into Kentucky from Battle Creek. Mrs. Lennep is the former Frances Dodge.

Nearly three hours afterward, a portion of it still was smoldering.

Rescue workers were able to remove six bodies, but the others still were in ruins.

The other plane fell about two miles away.

A similar mid-air collision between a Trans-Canada Air Lines passenger plane and an RCAF training plane at Moose Jaw last April killed 37 persons. There were no survivors and a woman was killed on the ground.

Planes Fall Two Miles Apart

The pilots were scheduled to pick up the Lenneps, wealthy Detroit race horse owners, in Lexington, Ky.

The local office of TWA released the list of passengers, all identified as American residents with the exception of Mr. Wharton.

The airliner landed in a gully, Betty Dallwick, who lived on the farm where it went down, said she first heard an explosion.

"It shook the house, and after it crashed it caught fire," she told a reporter.

Costa Rica Capital Strafed by Aircraft

Raider Reported From Nicaragua Downed By Anti-Aircraft Fire; Troops Clash

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, (AP)—An air raider described as "a Venezuelan pursuit plane which came from Nicaragua" machine-gunned San Jose today and then was shot down by anti-aircraft fire, the civil guard announced.

The raider, which looked like an American-built P-47 Thunderbolt of Second World War vintage, buzzed the downtown area of this capital city and loosed machine-gun bursts at a residential sector. This came as government troops battled in the north to clear a rebel band from the Villa Quesada area, about midway between San Jose and the Costa Rican-Nicaragua frontier.

Three bursts were aimed into the section surrounding the Costa Rican White House, the home of President Jose Figueres.

The plane was climbing rapidly as it passed the San Jose airport control tower. A lumbering DC-3 of the Lacsia airlines, armed with machine guns in its side doors, took off in pursuit.

FELL INTO RIVER

A civil guard communiqué said the raider was downed by anti-aircraft artillery and fell in a river about 100 miles northwest of San Jose.

Though the plane approached San Jose from the south, the command said it came from a Nicaraguan airfield.

"The command recommends that the inhabitants remain at home and keep calm," it said.

Costa Rica's delegate to the United Nations was informed from San Jose that invading forces captured two small port cities on the Pacific Coast. The delegate, ambassador Benjamin Jumez, identified the cities as Puerto Soley, near the Nicaraguan border, and Puerto Cortez, in southern Costa Rica. He said, also, invading planes had machine-gunned Turrialba and Cartago.

The Organization of American States ordered a five-country commission to fly here today to investigate the incident.

New Catholic Plea on School Costs Rebuffed by Education Minister

Education Minister Ray Williston stepped into the hotly contentious separate-public schools issue Tuesday with a statement strongly indicating no government aid will be forthcoming for separate schools.

Mr. Williston said: "We're committed to a public schools system in B.C. and I see no indication of any change in that policy at the moment."

In recent months, the controversy has been revived through the appearance before the cabinet of two delegations—one representing Roman Catholic separate schools, the other representing opponents of aid to separate schools.

Roman Catholic residents of B.C. say they pay $8,000,000 annually in school taxes to finance public schools. The 172,000 Catholics pay, in addition, for their own separate schools.

The Catholic delegation appearing before the cabinet asked for some form of financial relief.

Delegates to the B.C. Federation of Labor (CCL) convention in Vancouver last week urged a Royal Commission be appointed to study the question. Mr. Williston would not comment on the resolution.

Crashes Mar Big Air Lift

68 Bail Out, 2 Still Missing;
3,000 Ferried Through Edmonton

STEWART AIR FORCE BASE, Tenn. (AP)—Engine blazes in two United States Air Force C-119 Flying Boxcars marred a paratrooper airlift to Alaska Tuesday with a flaming crash here and a forced landing in Montana.

A total of 68 paratroopers and three airmen parachuted to safety from two planes, but two of the crew of the plane which crashed—presumably the pilot and co-pilot—still were missing today as air force investigators poked through the smoking wreckage.

Thirty-five airborne infantrymen and three crew members jumped when an engine burst into flames shortly after the twin-engined craft took off here.

However, Republican Leader Norman K. Parsells objected. He said ash trays might prove too tempting as missiles "in the heat of debate."

CARRY 3,000 TROOPS
The two Boxcars were part of a flight of 80 ferrying 3,000 airborne troops from Fort Campbell, Ky., to Alaska—with a stop at Edmonton—for Operation Snowbird, a winter exercise. Paratroopers involved in both jumps were members of the 503rd Airborne Infantry Regiment.

LIFT CARRIES ON
EDMONTON (CP)—Giant Flying Boxcars were roaring into Edmonton steadily today as movement continued of 3,000 United States paratroopers to Alaska for battle manoeuvres.

The planes are arriving in Edmonton at 30-minute intervals with a lapse of one hour between each unit of 10. By Tuesday night more than half had arrived in the Alberta capital, where there is a 12-hour stopover for refueling and checks.

The last plane should arrive in Edmonton Thursday morning and take off on the 1,000-mile hop to Whitehorse, Y.T., by Thursday evening.

Whitehorse is the last scheduled stop before arrival at Anchorage. In addition to Edmonton, the other stopover is at Rapid City, S.D.

RCN OFFICER CADETS LEARN WAYS OF SEA

City Lad Slides Gaily Across Water, Returns to Ship Just Wee Bit Shaky

On Board HMCS Ontario—Six short months ago David Gurr was a student at Belmont High School in Victoria. Today he is one of 79 cadets of HMCS Ontario, bound for the South Seas on a three-month training cruise. Already he has had some interesting experiences—such as sitting in an odd-shaped chair suspended from an overhead rope between a 9,000-ton cruiser and a 2,000-ton destroyer, a few feet above swirling, white-foamed waters and a thousand miles from land. Eighteen years of age and keen to make his career at sea, David Gurr was one of the group of cadets from Venture, the RCN's new officer-training establishment at Esquimalt, who boarded the Ontario January 5 for their first training cruise.

Several days out of Esquimalt, the destroyer Athabaskan drew up alongside the Ontario to take oil from the larger vessel. Both ships maintained a speed of 12 knots throughout the oiling operation and advantage was taken of the opportunity to rig a jackstay, a rope device which enables the transfer of individuals or equipment from one ship to the other.

Cadet Gurr made such a journey from the Ontario to the destroyer and return.

Storm Chews Wharves, Boats To Matchwood

Nfld. Fishermen Suffer Heavy Loss

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A savage sea storm, that slapped wharves and dories into rubble, appeared to be settling early today but not before it left the worst coastal mess in memory.

Around the jagged, rocky coasts of eastern and southern Newfoundland fishermen are trying to untangle the useless twisted timbers that once were fishing stages and wharves. In other outposts only stout posts show where wharves stood. At least seven buildings have been chewed to matchwood by the boiling sea and reports are still coming in.

Five stretches of highway were washed away during the sea storm which reached its peak Monday. At least two washouts occurred on the railway line, and an eastbound express was held up for more than four hours Tuesday as workmen filled the gap.

FREIGHTERS SAFE
At the entrance to St. John's harbor, two freighters, the Nova Port and Bedford II rode out the giant swells for two days before slipping into the narrow entrance and safety late Tuesday.

A small store at Petty Harbor, in Conception Bay, was flattened by the waves which reached 100 feet across the sloping coastline. The building—with most of its stock ruined—was eventually sucked out to sea and torn to bits. Five small fishing buildings at Ferryland, on the east coast, met a similar fate. Five wharves in the same community went with them.

Alberta A-G Coming Here

Social Credit monetary theories will be expounded here next week by Hon. Lucien Maynard, Alberta's attorney-general.

Under the sponsorship of the Victoria Constituency Social Credit Association, Mr. Maynard will address public meetings in the lower ballroom at the Crystal Garden, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next at 8 p.m.

His talks will be based on his recent presentation on banking and monetary policies to the House of Commons banking committee. There will be a question and answer period at the conclusion of each meeting.

4TH SINKING

3rd Time Jinx Broken

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—None the worse for his fourth brush with death on the Atlantic is Harry Thomason, captain of the Newfoundland freighter Student Prince which sank recently in a gale off Bermuda.

A sailor at 11, the doughty 56-year-old Danish-born skipper who now makes his home in Newfoundland, had one schooner shelled to the bottom by a U-boat during World War II.

He, his wife and two sons had a close call in the 20's when a storm sank their three-masted schooner. During World War I, he was aboard another ship that broke her rudder and sank.

His latest escape was effected by the luxury liner Queen of Bermuda which snatched the captain and his crew of nine from the foundering 10-year-old Student Prince one hour and 50 minutes before the 285-ton wooden freighter gave one last heave and sank, 110 miles from Bermuda.

Hopes Rising For Settlement Of Ford Strike

TORONTO (BUP)—The Ford peace talks resume today amid speculation that the bargaining will result in a definite agreement between the company and 9,000 employees in three Ontario plants.

No talks were held Tuesday because company officials were studying a detailed list of proposals presented by the striking CIO United Auto Workers Union. Observers said the proposals might provide the basis for an agreement in the strike that started 94 days ago.

May 24 Fete Plans Keyed to Merchants

Saturday Parade to Attract Shoppers May Open 3-Day Celebration Program

May 24 celebrations parade may be held on the Saturday preceding the holiday this year in an attempt to woo added support from city merchants.

A Saturday evening historical pageant at Royal Athletic Park was also planned during a meeting Tuesday night of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Ald. G. I. Edgelow suggested the Saturday parade to draw crowds to the downtown section while stores are open. They could close for the parade, then reopen, he thought.

"If business men see they are making money from the celebrations then they will be willing to pay money to make them a greater success," he said.

Business men had been criticized for lack of support in providing floats for previous parades.

The meeting decided to poll members of the retail merchants' group of the Chamber of Commerce concerning the Saturday parade plan. The chamber will also be asked to organize the parade.

Plans were laid to extend celebrations over Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the official holiday.

About 100 local actors from amateur groups will be enlisted for the pageant. It will be based on history of Victoria. A city department store offered costumes and regalia.

Massey drill teams, crowning of the May Queen and a fireworks display will all be featured in the finale. City Council will be asked to approve a carnival on Arena Way.

Planning Group Will Enlist Citizens

A citizens' town planning group will be formed Monday at 8:15 p.m. in city hall council chambers.

Promotion of better urban planning and maximum planning in all areas of the district will be prime concern of the organization. Part of a nationwide body, it will be known as Community Planning Association of Canada, Victoria Branch. Anyone in Victoria, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Saanich and adjacent unorganized territory may become a member. Brahm Weisman, director of the Capital Region Planning Board, will aid in organization.

The new group will suggest to municipal councils that planning technicians be employed as a "normal function of government," Mr. Weisman said. Films of town planning procedures and election of officers will be main items on the agenda of the first meeting.

Aid Boost For Jobless Finds Favor

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

All parties in the Commons Tuesday commended a government proposal to boost supplementary winter unemployment insurance, but opposition speakers said the government has not gone far enough or fast enough in fighting unemployment.

By unanimous agreement, the House interrupted formalities of the throne speech for its introduction. The government is hopeful of adoption later this week. In that case, its provisions would become effective from the start of the week.

These provisions are:
1. Increasing the supplementary benefit payments to equality with regular benefits. The supplementaries—paid between January 1 and April 15—to those whose normal benefits have expired now run to between 67 and 81 per cent of normal.

2. A minimum 60 days of supplementary benefits a year. Minimums in different categories now vary from 18 days upwards.

GREGG EXPLAINS

In presenting the bill, Labor Minister Gregg said that on the basis of last winter's unemployment supplementary insurance would cost $22,000,000 annually compared with $12,000,000 a year ago. The money will come from the insurance fund.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West), labor specialist for her party, said she welcomes the bill but it should have been considered at a 1954 fall sitting of Parliament.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver-Kingsway) said the bill is "most welcome" but will fail to relieve the situation to any considerable extent. Unemployment insurance was not a cure for unemployment.

He suggested that $100,000,000 be used from the unemployment fund for works to create jobs.

CITES LOGGERS
Thomas Barnett (CCF-Comox-Alberni) said the government should do more to meet the increasing unemployment difficulties of British Columbia loggers who suffered enforced layoffs during the summer fire months as well as the winter months.

"It is a Micawber-like measure," he said. "Unemployment insurance is being extended in the hope that something will turn up."

Colin Cameron (CCF-Nanaimo) said the insurance measure is like an aspirin administered for a headache; it does not cure.

The Commons Speaker, Rene Beaudin, has been permitted to run up a bill of $3,000 in each fiscal year for official entertainment. Previous Speakers paid for entertainment out of their own pockets.

This was disclosed in a report tabled in the Commons by its internal economics committee. It recommended this amount for the current fiscal year ending next March 31 and for each subsequent year.

Govt. to Probe Entertainment

The government will investigate whether any federal officials were entertained in a private country residence by a company seeking construction contracts.

A recent ruling of the income tax appeal board disclosed that an unnamed firm entertained public officials in a summer residence.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday in the Commons he will try to find out what was said at the closed hearing of the case and secondly if officials of the government were entertained.

He said he was "very much surprised" by the disclosure in the board's decision, issued Saturday.

The judgment, signed by board member W. S. Fisher, said the company claimed deductions of $27,789 from its 1951 taxable income for alterations to the summer home "where officials and officers of the various government bodies could be entertained prior to negotiations of government contracts."

The champion of some 15,000 retired government employees Tuesday urged Finance Minister Harris to increase their pensions.

Stanley Knowles CCF-Winnipeg North Centre asked Mr. Harris in the Commons whether the government is considering renewed requests by superannuated civil servants for pension increases.

Mr. Harris said he has received a few representations. However, he said he could not add much to what former finance minister Abbott told the Commons March 2 last.

Tributes were paid in the Senate Tuesday night to two members who died since the last session of Parliament—Sen.

Senator Buchanan, a native of Ontario who went west to become publisher of the Lethbridge Herald and who was appointed to the Senate in 1925 as a Liberal from Alberta, died July 11 last year. He was 78. The tributes came from all sides of the Senate—from Senator W. Ross Macdonald, government leader, and many colleagues who knew the two senators personally.

The chief welfare spokesman for the CCF party Tuesday asked the government to increase old-age pensions by $20 a month and to establish a national health insurance program at the present session of Parliament.

Stanley Knowles, member for Winnipeg North Centre, said in the Commons that the time has arrived for the government to shake off its indifference to the problems of old age pensioners. Pensions should be increased immediately from $40 a month to not under $60.

Establishment of a national health insurance plan was the next step the government should take in the field of welfare legislation. A program should be established this session and certainly within the life of the present parliament.

B.C. Ignored Warning on Dam

The Commons was told Tuesday that Gen. A. G. J. McNaughton, Canadian co-chairman of the International Joint Commission, last September asked the British Columbia government to defer a deal with the United States aluminum interests for Columbia River water power.

Resources Minister Lesage said Gen. McNaughton made the suggestion last September but was told by B.C. Lands Minister Sommers that a B.C.-Kaiser agreement already had been entered into.

Monday, the federal government took action that would enable it to block the transaction. It introduced legislation requiring federal licenses for anyone—including provincial governments—constructing works affecting the flow of rivers such as the Columbia which run into the United States.

Federal authorities have expressed dissatisfaction with terms of the B.C.-Kaiser agreement. They contend the province would not get sufficient return from the electricity made available to Kaiser through use of Columbia water, and that the proposal would conflict with long-range development of the river's potential.

Cross-Strait Races Scheduled August 13

Seattle Craft Among 50 Power Boats Slated for Speed Runs to Port Angeles

First open power boat race across the Strait of Juan de Fuca will be staged August 13 by Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association.

About 50 craft, representing both inboard and outboard boats in six classes, are expected to be entered from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Sprat Lake, Campbell River and Nanaimo.

Progress report on plans for the meet will be made tonight by secretary George Davis at 8.15 in the British Public Schools Club.

Entrants will probably leave the Breakwater at Ogden Point, officials say, make their runs to Port Angeles and return to Victoria. If weather conditions are favorable, some boats are expected to be able to complete their runs in less than an hour in tries for substantial cash prizes.

Probable time for most boats is estimated at two hours. Cover for the flotilla will be provided by launches from Capital City Yacht Club, and by planes from Victoria Flying Club, which will be in radio contact with each other.

The stretch of water to be challenged is noted for its unpredictable tides, currents and almost continual chop from steady winds. Small boats have made the crossing in the past, but it has often been an adventure, according to boaters.

Members of the association who acted as escorts on the Florence Chadwick strait swim last summer were attracted by the idea and have been planning it since.

Killer Pleads For End of Capital Punishment—Dies

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Donald Hawkins Brown, 26-year-old killer of a Dallas bill collector, died in the electric chair early today after making a plea for an end to capital punishment.

Brown expressed regret that District Attorney Henry Wade of Dallas was not present to see him executed for the slaying in 1952 of Edwin Campbell.

"I don't see Mr. Wade or any of the prosecutors here," Brown said with a smile as he was prepared for the chair. Then he handed Don Reid, a newspaper man, a note in which he said capital punishment made martyrs of psychopaths and offered them "an adventure."

Brown was convicted of shooting Campbell three times, then saturating the body with gasoline and setting it afire in the victim's car.

Canada, Japan Sign New Air Transport Pact

Tokyo-Vancouver Flight Routes On Reciprocal Basis

OTTAWA (BUP)—The new air transport services agreement between Canada and Japan was formally signed today.

Dr. Koto Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to Canada, signed for his country, and External Affairs Minister, Lester B. Pearson and Transport Minister George C. Marler signed for Canada.

The agreement was negotiated in Tokyo and initialled there Nov. 24, 1954. It will come into force as soon as it has been approved by both governments.

The agreement will give Japanese sanction to the North Pacific route now flown by Canadian Pacific Airlines on its Vancouver-Hong Kong service. And it will permit a Japanese air line to be designated by the Japanese government to operate over the same route between Tokyo and Vancouver.

Full traffic rights at Tokyo and Vancouver will be exchanged on a reciprocal basis.

CPA's present service to Tokyo operates with temporary approval.

Japan Air Lines now operates a trans-Pacific service between Tokyo and San Francisco.

RUSS OCEAN IN SIBERIA 'PIPE DREAM'

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—A Canadian scientist said here today the reported Russian plan to use atomic and hydrogen bombs to create a new sea in Siberia was nothing but a pipe dream.

Fred Muir, professor of civil engineering at the University of British Columbia, said the reported Soviet plan was beyond the range of experience and sounded "pretty fantastic."

Ottawa Has New Plan In Quebec Tax Fight

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent is scheduled to take before Cabinet Thursday a draft of a new letter to Premier Maurice Duplessis incorporating some suggestions for settlement of the difficulties of duplication of taxation for Quebec residents.

Work on the drafting of the letter has been going on since parliament opened. After the letter has been received by Quebec's premier a joint statement may be made by the prime minister and the premier at the week end.

Indications here are that the negotiations have not reached the stage where an announcement would be forthcoming of a full agreement on the tax.

A Bill of Rights

THE GOVERNMENT'S SESSIONAL agenda had hardly been read in Ottawa last week before much more important business emerged from the back benches.

Three private members of the House of Commons, a Liberal, a Conservative and a Socialist proposed a Canadian Bill of Rights. Mr. M. J. Coldwell, the C.C.F. leader, and Mr. John Diefenbaker, the Saskatchewan Conservative, have long advocated this reform. They are joined now by probably the most respected Liberal outside the cabinet, Mr. David Croll, of Toronto.

The need for a Bill of Rights was fully demonstrated before Parliament adjourned last year, but Mr. Coldwell's motion in favor of it was lost in the rush. He wisely puts it down again on the order paper early in the session so that it must be discussed and voted on. Similar motions are proposed by Messrs. Diefenbaker and Croll.

It would save confusion and greatly strengthen the Bill of Rights movement if the three distinguished members, representing all parties, except Social Credit, could merge their motions and thus present a united, non-partisan front. For a Bill of Rights assuredly should not be a partisan matter. It should have, indeed, the support of all parties and members who understand the present dangers to the liberties of the Canadian citizen.

Until now a Bill of Rights has been opposed by successive governments on the ground that it is quite unnecessary. The civil rights of Canadians, it is said, are fully protected by the statutes of Parliament and the Common Law. But Mr. Duplessis has shown in Quebec that this theory no longer can be trusted.

Parliament has assumed that it and it alone can legislate on basic civil liberties, that no province can infringe them and that, therefore, they are secure.

Mr. Duplessis' new Freedom of Worship Act (the outcome of his prosecution of the Jehovah's Witnesses) assumes, on the contrary, that the citizens' most important rights are under provincial jurisdiction, and he proposes to restrict them drastically—the rights of free speech, free assembly and free publication.

Thus Mr. Duplessis has openly challenged the basic powers of the national Parliament. Surely no Parliament with any sense of its responsibilities can condone this attack on its authority and on the citizen's rights. For if the attack succeeds, if Mr. Duplessis' law is declared valid by the courts, then we shall have two or perhaps ten different kinds of citizenship in Canada.

In Quebec, for example, a citizen will lack rights enjoyed by other Canadians. Then some other province following Mr. Duplessis' example, can restrict the rights of its citizens in the same or another fashion.

There is no visible end to this process except a varying degree of civil rights across the nation and a national Parliament impotent in its most important function—the protection of the citizen.

What is needed here is not some elaborate codification of civil rights like the American Bill of Rights, but a simple declaration by Parliament that it alone can legislate in this field.

Under the American system of divided powers a Bill of Rights, establishing those rights in detail, is perhaps a necessary arrangement.

Our system, entirely different in its functions, can never save the citizen from the follies of the national Parliament. It has the power to restrict civil rights if it chooses to do so. So has the British Parliament.

Even if certain rights are written into the constitution, the constitution can be changed by Parliament, as it often has been changed. But no Parliament is ever likely to infringe civil rights; whereas Mr. Duplessis has proved that a province may do so and, up to now, there is no sure safeguard against this infringement.

Hence the undoubted need of a Bill of Rights stating that the liberties of Canadians reside exclusively in the jurisdiction of Parliament.

It will be unfortunate indeed if a majority of Parliament, fearing the political power of Mr. Duplessis in Quebec, refuses to uphold Parliament's constitutional powers, decides to abdicate them and to leave civil liberties at the mercy of provincial legislatures.

Mr. Sloan's Commission

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT has given Chief Justice Sloan an admirable and unlimited assignment to study every aspect of British Columbia's forest problems.

In his wide terms of reference he can ascertain precisely what forest wealth the public owns, how fast it is being used, and whether it is being adequately reproduced. He can also consider whether the forest management system is working out as he originally intended when he proposed it nearly ten years ago. There is, in fact, no part of our forest policy beyond the Chief Justice's reach.

The Government has acted wisely in drafting this commission. It would have been still wiser if it had appointed more than one commissioner and thus allowed the Chief Justice to share an onerous burden of decision with other men equally able.

But having decided on an investigation by one man, the Government quite properly has not tied his hands in any way. The public, therefore, may expect another monumental report from Mr. Sloan in due time—probably not for a year or two—and on it, perhaps, an improved forest policy can be built.

Meanwhile every interest and every point of view no doubt will be given full consideration by the investigator and every defect in the present policy should be fully exposed.

Truth Never Changes

IN THE LATTER PART OF THE nineteenth century a London journal, oddly calling itself "Truth," undertook to advise British investors about the Canadian Pacific Railway. Its advice was that the CPR would go broke.

Well, the CPR crawled to the Pacific and made possible the Canadian nation. But "Truth" apparently has learned little about Canada. In a recent issue it publishes a piece captioned "On the Dole in Canada" and to read it one might imagine that the whole nation was going broke.

Canada, says "Truth," presents "a grim picture" with "queues at the employment exchanges growing daily longer." The Canadian economy is tightly geared to that of the United States and in the latter country "recession" is no longer a fancy word to describe "industrial readjustments"; rather it is a reality which threatens to destroy all that unions have gained in the post-war years.

Most of the glowing reports about Canada's progress, it appears, are mere "guff." As in the days of CPR construction, the British investor evidently should beware of Canadian optimism.

All this represents an old trick of journalism. A reporter can take any country and, by concentrating on its best points, make it look like a paradise; or by dwelling on its misfortunes, can turn it into a hell. Most likely it is neither. A round picture of Canada, however, taking full account of all the worst statistics, must account this one of the most fortunate countries in the world. That undoubtedly is the simple truth. But not "Truth" of London.

Out of Mouths of Tubes and Couplings

TELEVISION PRODUCERS have found that the problem of raising a laugh with a comedy program is less than the problem of curbing the guffaws. Carried away by hilarity, the studio audience tends to laugh too long and so interfere with the split-second timing needed for the broadcast. At the same time, surveys have proved that TV audiences in the quiet of the nation's darkened living rooms need the stimulus of laughter pouring in with the comedian's words and image.

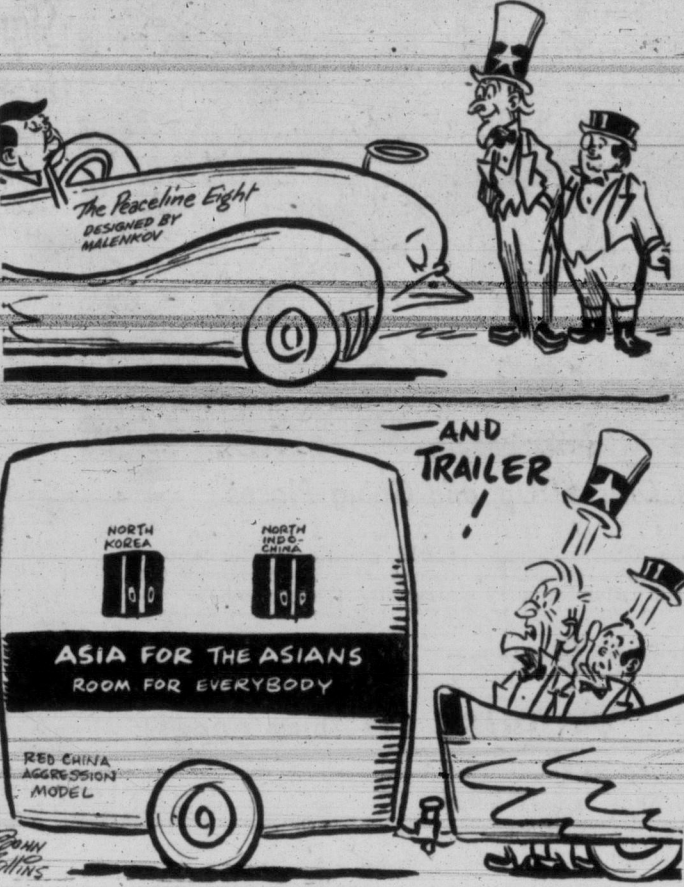

The answer, of course, was clear: keep the studio audience off the air and dub in laughter as needed. This was done with great success, using tape recordings of the studio audience's reaction. The next step also was obvious. Stored recordings of the laughter from old programs, perhaps years old, were employed. This moved Mr. Fred Allen to remark that the laughter being heard on the air was that of people long since dead. Recordings of all kinds of audiences were freely available. Producers could easily buy a set of controlled chuckles; a burst of applause with murmurs of appreciation; a good, unrestrained yawn; a completely abandoned boffo.

And so came the next step. Someone invented a machine that makes laughter noises. By pushing various buttons, all combinations of snicker, chuckle, cackle and roar can be reproduced. The process thus has gone full cycle. Modern science has reached its peak of achievement in this successful demonstration of the metallic glory of our age: a machine laughing at a machine.

Looking Over the New Models

THE COEXISTENCE CAR

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I WAS writing a few unkind words about public relations last time. I was referring, of course, to public relations as exaggerated by mere word-mongers, and not to an often necessary job of real work.

And then I horsed around a little with the modern notion that we should get rid of old words like "reputation" and substitute the snappier expression "public relations." So that we could now say "Don't let your daughter go to the Hotel Shot Hotel, it has bad public relations," instead of saying it has a bad reputation.

But I forgot to mention "public relations" as now used to mean manners. This is the wildest use of the phrase I have yet run across, though I dare say wider ones will be invented before the year is out. For example, French-Canadians will say it is bad public relations for us to address them in English, and we will say it is bad public relations for them to address us in French. And what we really mean is that such things are bad manners (as indeed they are).

I suppose manners are very old-fashioned things by now. I mean good manners. We still have lots of bad manners. But if one is supposed to say "public relations" instead of manners, I think it is going to be fun changing the motto of William of Wykeham (and of his school at Winchester and New College at Oxford): "Manners Makyth Man" sounds a little sentimental and preachy. . . . though it is both true and valuable advice if you know how to read it. But "Public Relations Makyth Man" could hardly offend the most embittered enemy of piety and decorum. For it sounds exactly like Dale Carnegie, or Bruce Barton, or one of those. Or something in The Reader's Digest on how to make courtesy pay cash dividends.

MANNERS
WAS I joking just now when I suggested manners are getting worse? Only partly joking. . . . about 3 per cent, which is a nice strength for a joke. Do you want some examples of modern bad manners? . . . Well, good heavens, if you haven't noticed any examples yourself, then maybe you wouldn't know what I was talking about even after I'd mentioned a hundred of them. However, let's have a few just for fun. Entirely at random. Let's see. . . . well, at a horse show last summer I saw several young girls properly clad all right but chewing gum at the judges. I call that a little poor, if not bad. And the same thing goes for young men chewing gum (especially with their mouths open) at dances.

LEGAL NOTES AND QUERIES

A YOUNG friend of mine has just got into trouble at school for playing hooky. I can understand his getting into trouble at home for this little lapse. I can also understand his getting into trouble with the law. . . . I believe there are laws about such things. But how can the school itself punish him for a deed committed elsewhere? When he was playing hooky he wasn't even in their silly school at all, he tells me. So how could he be doing something wrong at school? This seems a pretty good question, though I doubt if he'll get very far with it.

ATMOSPHERE SHATTERED
Rod and his beautiful wife, Annon, and I set off for the party in the late afternoon. The children of Lotus Lake village were driving the village buffaloes home from their wallow; the herons were gloriously winging their way back to the heronry by the Lotus Lake, and the lowering sun was gliding the rice straw in the fields. But this perfect atmosphere of pastoral peace was shattered, when we reached the ballroom (Rod's silk factory. Som Si had insisted on installing the powerful American public address system that the village bought last year to brighten up its festivals.

The noise of alternating records of Bangkok songs, local ballads and arias from Thai classical opera was downright deafening. Besides half the village was already there. The white mule was already going round. And the conversation was beginning to show that added brightness that always marks the cocktail hour.

GOOD LUCK STRINGS
The first item on the program was the idea of the village elders—to wind the bai see strings which bring good luck on the arms of Rod, Annon and me. The ceremony involved sitting on the floor through an interminable, imitation Pail chant, and being wound with the strings while all those not busy string winding held hands to strengthen the life forces.

After that, the party really got going. The white mule circulated rapidly by an efficient loving cup system. The cow and the buffalo appeared in the form of laap, which means that they had been chopped fine with the fiercest red peppers available, extra seasoned with spices and rather summarily cooked; with laap and curry and salad and white mule in plenty. The usual second stage of every party, when the conversation almost overtops the music, was easily reached. Then the ken player took over the microphone. With many a shy gesture, the young ladies took the floor, and the village bucks stepped out for the circle dance. This involves revivifying, very remotely, around your partner, making elegant hand and arm gestures. An American buck would find it unexciting. But Thai bucks think differently.

And so we reached the party's final phase, which continued, with louder and louder music and faster and faster circle dancing, until all could wish one another a happy new year. There were the usual late party incidents—the headman's son went a bit too far, as headmen's sons so often will. There was also the usual group who could not resist the temptation for "just one nightcap," so the Lotus Lake Village was still ringing with song in the dawn. But as a party it was a clear success.

USEFUL INFORMATION
And what useful information did I garner from this evening, it may well be asked. Well, I learned from all those present that Thai villagers are charming, gay and friendly people. From Som Si and one of two other intelligent and sober elders, I learned they hate the Chinese and Vietnamese with an intense passion, and equate communism with its great Asian converts. And just by listening to the loud speaker, I learned that this was a semi-neolithic community, experiencing a violent impact from Western civilization whose final outcome you could not predict.

And I also learned that Kun Nom was not factually accurate, when he promised that Laos white mules mixed with black monkey's blood never gave you a headache.

Theories, and the Facts of Life

By WALTER LIPPMANN From Washington

AS between his first message delivered two years ago just after he became president and the message of last week, there is a marked change in the president's thinking. The change is not in his moral aims but in his ideas about high policy. He has changed his conception of what can be done in foreign policy, of what must be done in the management of the national economy, and of what should be done in regard to what is often called the welfare state.

In 1933 he believed that Mr. Dulles and he could define "a new positive foreign policy" which would put an end to what he called "the posture of paralyzed tension." This was to be done by what was then known as psychological warfare.

It was hoped and believed that by public propaganda, diplomatic declarations, the signature of pacts, the holding of conferences, and by clandestine non-military operations; the western world would begin to roll back the Communist empire.

There is no trace of that notion remaining in the 1935 message. Its aim is to find and if possible to stabilize a modus vivendi with the Communist world.

The 1935 message is notably different from 1933 in its theory of the government's relation to the ups-and-downs of the national economy. In 1933 the president's message sounded as if he believed that the balancing of the budget was the paramount consideration. In 1935, with a balanced budget not yet in sight, he has recommended a program which puts the national defense and the expansion of the economy and the welfare state ahead of the balancing of the budget.

WELFARE MEASURES
In regard to welfare legislation the difference between the two messages is not strictly speaking, in the theory. The difference is in the scope and the amount of the welfare measures. Whereas two years ago the president seemed to feel that welfare measures were something to be conceded reluctantly, in 1935 they kindle his enthusiasm. This difference is so considerable that it is really a difference in kind.

I do not believe that the evolution of President Eisenhower's thinking is explained fairly or truly by saying that he has become interested in politics and is bidding for Democratic and independent votes. The real reason for the change is that in 1933 he was still a theorist without practical experience in these matters. He had only recently begun to think seriously about the problems of high policy. In 1935 he has had two years to test his theories by the hard realities.

In 1935 the theories have had to give way to the facts of life. He has found that in spite of what the advertising blarney promised, psychological warfare is not a way of causing the great Communist imperial coalition to break down and to recede. He has found, too, in his practical experience with Indo-China last spring, what it is like to look over the rim of hell into the abyss of total war. He has felt it in himself, who had the awful responsibility of the decision, he knows how Congress and the people really feel about it, how our Allies feel.

In these two years he has adjusted his aims, which were dreamed up before he took office, to the real nature of the world and of the times we live in.

Practical experience, too, has taught him that the paramount consideration at home is not the balancing of "the budget" but the balancing of the national economy. There has been just enough recession to reveal how disastrous it would be if the recession were allowed to become worse. And this has made him more than willing to listen to those of his advisers who belong to the modern school of economists, who believe that the role of the government is not to balance the budget and then to be neutral but to take compensatory action in order to promote a stable growth of investment, consumption and production.

GREAT REALITIES
There is not much sense in saying that the Eisenhower of 1935 is copying the Democrats. The great realities of foreign policy, of the national economy, and of the welfare measures of a democratic state are not a private possession of the Democrats.

The truth of the matter is that the Democrats came to power some 20 years ago when the very survival of the democratic government against upheaval within and against aggression abroad demanded governments which could adjust themselves to the realities of this century. There is no escaping these realities.

The real trouble with the so-called right-wing Republicans, who deplore the present Eisenhower, is that instead of opposing the mistakes, which were many and serious, made by the Democrats, they prefer to think that somehow the modern realities should never have come upon us and that somehow they might still be made to disappear.

They are at odds with the history of the times they live in, wanting to find a world like that which existed before the wars, which existed before the great depression, which existed before the ordeal of modern mass democracy. That is what causes them to quarrel not only with the Democrats but also with Eisenhower and the Republicans who intend to make their theories fit the facts of modern life.

COMMUNITY FEELING
Can community feeling be preserved when transport, the radio, really everything that belongs to the contemporary world, is breaking down boundaries all the time? In the jet and atom age we all belong to the world; whether we like it or not. Even the people who answer advertisements for lighthouse keepers can't get away from it altogether.

PARTY MANNERS
I look upon life as a party: one arrives long after it's started, and one's going to leave long before it's over, and it's as well, perhaps, not to try and be the life and soul of it, and not to try and take too much responsibility for the affair.

Brother Alsop Throws a Party at Lotus Lake Village

BY JOSEPH ALSOP, From Nongkhay, Northeast Thailand

THIS reporter is currently recovering from giving a New Year's Eve party which perhaps deserves recording on a higher level than the expense account, for only because it was a dinner-dance for 150 people that cost $35. It was born of a decision to spend Christmas and New Year's Day in this lovely northeastern region of Thailand, which is also the most exposed to Communist pressure and the most penetrated by fifth columns. When I got here, my friend Rod Hemphill, who runs a local silk factory, said no one could understand northeastern Thailand without getting the feel of village life.

It was a pity, Rod added, there was no village party coming up, because going to a village party was the best quick way to see what a Thai village was really like. And so I asked whether I might give a New Year's eve party at the village of the Lotus Lake, where Rod's silk factory is situated.

From there, Rod's charming and intelligent Thai partner, Kun Nom, and the extremely able, tough village headman, Som Si quietly took over. There were a couple of preliminary crises, about the price of the cow that was to be the main dish, and about the difficulty of obtaining the truly superior brand of local white mule that is made across the Mekong River in Laos.

But Kun Nom, and Som Si were as efficient a catering service as any in Washington. On the morning of Dec. 31, they reported that my $35 had provided a cow, half a buffalo, and several ducks and chickens; plus about fifteen gallons of white mule for the common people with a specially-invigorating and precious bottle of white mules mixed with black monkey's blood for the honored guests; plus the most celebrated player of the ken, a local instrument halfway between bagpipes and pan pipes; plus prizes to persuade the young ladies to dance, which they are reluctant to do without suitable inducement.

Rod and his beautiful wife, Annon, and I set off for the party in the late afternoon. The children of Lotus Lake village were driving the village buffaloes home from their wallow; the herons were gloriously winging their way back to the heronry by the Lotus Lake, and the lowering sun was gliding the rice straw in the fields. But this perfect atmosphere of pastoral peace was shattered, when we reached the ballroom (Rod's silk factory. Som Si had insisted on installing the powerful American public address system that the village bought last year to brighten up its festivals.

King of Lundy Island

LONDON—Anybody like to be a real, live king—with your own postage stamps and your own coins with your bust on them? All you need is about $125,000, to buy the island of Lundy, which is 20 miles off the coast of Devon. Buy Lundy Island and you can set up in business as a king because for the past 800 years the owner of this island, three miles long by half a mile wide, has been entitled to call himself king.

Reyburn

The last king of Lundy was a fabulous financier, Martin Coles Harman, who died recently. He left no heir, so the kingdom is up for sale.

What are the tangible things you would get for your money? It is a rocky island but there is wealth in the rock.

Lundy's granite is regarded as the purest in the world. There is a mansion for the king and his family, and for his 15 subjects, the only other inhabitants of the island. There is an hotel to cater for tourists and for people who come to study the birds, for which it has been a sanctuary for centuries.

But it is the less tangible things that are the main attraction for anyone taking over the kingdom. It is outside the British realm in so many regards. There is no income tax, no customs (all goods can be landed duty free), the main coin of the kingdom is a "puffin" (value: one penny) with a puffin-bird on one side and the king's head on the other, and the postage stamps also feature the puffin and are eagerly sought after by stamp collectors.

No police force, no bureaucrats and no licensing laws—the tavern on the island opens and closes when it pleases. It is a paradise for anyone who wants to get away from taxes, restrictions and red tape.

But having bought the kingdom it is likely that you would find that the British government might in the near future decide to bring it within the British realm? Apparently this is not likely because Lundy over the centuries has had many charters granted to it since King Stephen first conferred a royal charter on the island in 1135.

It would involve lengthy legal battles to upset these charters that give rights of a kingdom to Lundy, so it looks as though the new king of Lundy—whoever he may be—will be allowed to rule over his kingdom in peace for many years to come and hand it over at his death to his heir.

THE ENGLISH ARE INORDINATELY fond of catch-phrases. They usually originate on the radio. Tommy Handley, in his radio show, used to use dozens of them—"Can I do you now, sir?" and "Don't forget the driver"—and several of them caught on with the public. Since then no BBC comedy program is complete unless littered with catch-phrases repeated again and again each week in the hope that listeners will embrace them.

Recent ones have been "Give him the money, Barney," "Right, monkey!" and "Are you going to pardon me?" The idea is that when a situation arises that is in any way appropriate, you say one of those catch-phrases and everybody roars with laughter. The latest is "Big Brother is watching you!" and no matter what you do these days you are bound to have that hurled at you at least half a dozen times a day. If the phrase gets itself exported to your side of the Atlantic, you may wonder what started it.

It is an offshoot from the rumpus caused here by the television version of George Orwell's book, "1984," depicting on the TV screen the horrors of Britain as a totalitarian state. The imaginary dictator of Britain in 1984 was Big Brother and his face appeared on posters with the legend, "Big Brother is watching you." Most unhappy man is BBC employee Roy Oxley, who posed for the posters. He's Big Brother for life.

FARM PRICE SUPPORT COSTS $80 MILLION

OTTAWA (CP)—Agricultural price support from 1946, when support prices were instituted, to March 31 last cost the Canadian taxpayer $80,163,658.

The figure is given in the 1953-54 report of the price support board tabled Tuesday in the Commons.

Nearly $69,000,000 of the total went to support hog and cattle prices because of the embargo on shipments of live stock and livestock products to the United States following the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan in February, 1952.

Breakdown of price support by products: Hogs, $35,734,425; cattle, $33,408,941; apples, $6,106,725; potatoes, $2,036,175; butter, $1,696,742; skimmed milk, $677,404; dried white beans, $194,419; honey, $177,066, and eggs, $65,408.

SET TO BARGAIN

Germans Hold Key To World Peace

By GAIL STOTT
(Times Victoria College Reporter)

Germany, an "island" between the east and the west, holds an extremely important position in the world today. Bob Miller, lecturer sponsored by the Student Christian Movement, told members of the International Relations Club at Victoria College Tuesday noon.

Miller spent two years in Germany. After the depression, he said, the people were divided into two distinct groups, the rich and the poor. Hitler found followers among the unemployed by creating jobs.

Mr. Miller pointed out that ever since Martin Luther, the church and the state have been united and under the control of the rich. Thus the church, although it was opposed to Marxism when it appeared in the trade unions, did not exert much influence on the workers.

Hitler continued to gain power, he said, by exploiting the feelings of the workers, who were bitter against their powerful employers. After Hitler's end in 1945, the German democrats wanted "reformation" of the social structure, but the Allies effected a "restoration" of the old conditions. First they preached a peace campaign, and since, as fear of Russia grew, the Allies have moved to rearm the Germans as a protection against the forces of Communism.

Such conditions aroused a feeling of cynicism in the German people, Mr. Miller stated, but they realized that they could bargain with both sides, making their choice. In such a position, the Germans, conscious of their importance, hold a vital balance in the world today.

No Children For Krestova School Bus

Doukhobor Village Quietly Adamant

KRESTOVA, B.C., (CP)—A school bus ran to this Sons of Freedom Doukhobor village Monday, the first time in history of this settlement on the banks of Goose Creek.

The village was quiet, there were no protests—and there were no children, RCMP said.

Sending the bus to Krestova is the first step of a British Columbia government plan to force Sons of Freedom parents to send their children to school.

Posters tacked up in the village, quoting the School Act and giving notice the school bus would run, were torn down the same night, school inspector J. J. McKenzie said.

The Sons, radical faction of the Russian-origin sect, claim it is against their belief to send children to Canadian schools, with, they say, teach militarism to which they are opposed.

While the school bus was making the return trip empty, Fred Fominoff of Winlaw was fined $100 and costs for driving while his license was under suspension.

Fominoff's driving privileges were the first to be halted as penalty under the School Act for failing to send children to school.

In city police court Tuesday Martin Cottet, 1127 Richardson, was fined $40 or five days when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Magistrate H. C. Hall will decide Thursday if his license will be suspended.

GORKY STREET HAS ITS SQUARES, TOO

Moscow's Zoot-Suit Boys Headed for Brain-Washing

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's "Stilyagi" zoot-suit boys had better watch out! The Communist Youth League paper Komsomol Pravda indicated in an editorial Tuesday that red hot leaguers have been told to go after them and "teach and inject them with culture."

The paper titled its column "The Development of Taste." It ripped the hide off the zoot-suiters, practically tearing off their loud painted neckties and shearing their Tatarian haircuts. Russians and foreigners who see these Russian young folk along Moscow's main drag, Gorky Street, in sections which they call "Broadway" or "Brooklyn," find the editorial interesting.

These "Stilyagi" are a flaming youth element consisting of boys and girls who speak some English. Apparently they are given plenty of money by their parents, so that they can frequent the best restaurants.

The Soviet government has already closed some bars and forbidden the serving of vodka to minors. Despite these steps the Russian zoot-suiters still survive.

CITY MANAGER FOR VANCOUVER?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The $40,000-a-year business of civic administration here may be put under a general manager. A special committee will report on the matter in one month when Mayor Fred Hume returns from sick leave. The plan would obviate a proposal by Mayor Hume for a deputy mayor.

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB," this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates the "skin barrier"—goes to work to relieve pain deep down in muscles and joints. The bloodstream carries the soothing medication right to the seat of trouble where it actually helps drive away pain—causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage. InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money refunded in full.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Common Causes of Neurosis

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Dr. Andrew D. Hart, of the University of Virginia School of Medicine, just sent me a brief list of many of the situations which cause neuroses. This list interests me, if only because it agrees so closely with my own observations. Today many psychiatrists teach that practically all nervous troubles are due to early sexual trauma, by which they mean psychic injury. Actually, we non-psychiatrists who see thousands of people with neuroses, have the impression that most people who develop nervous troubles have two causes; one, usually a hereditary tendency to nervousness, worry, jitteriness, or fretfulness, and the other, some life situation which is a little too much for them.

Dr. Hart speaks first of hardships, such as during wars when a man has to go long to be away from his wife and children. Also, in certain industries like well-drilling a man will sometimes have to travel long distances, following his job. Long separation from wife and home is very upsetting to many such men. Even if the wife can go with the man, the couple may become upset over their inability ever to stay long enough in one place to get their "roots down."

Then there are the many people who get upset because they have lost a spouse either by death or rejection or desertion or divorce or illness. It is so hard for them to pick up life again. Many men and women have their life wrecked by chronic alcoholism either in them or a close relative. Some others suffer because of an exaggerated family interdependence. We all know the men and women who cannot get away from apron strings. Men may feel compelled to work in the family business which they may hate. They may work for a father or an older brother who is dictatorial or unpleasant, and who refuses to delegate any authority. This causes humiliation. The victim is very unhappy but afraid to leave and try to carve out his own future.

Then, there are the persons who marry but stay under the parental roof, and have much trouble because of that. Many such persons fail to achieve real independence in life, and they are unhappy about it.

MANY REASONS ADVANCED

On the job, men get into trouble for many reasons; some few drive themselves too hard and burn the candle at both ends; others are distressed by a job that is too big and too hard for them. They feel as if they had a bear by the tail, and don't know how to let go.

Others can't stand promotion with the added responsibility. They feel as if they had bitten off more than they can chew. They feel as if too much work were being piled on them. Quite a few go to pieces even when threatened with promotion. One thinks of the happy top sergeant who, when promoted to a lieutenant, becomes lonely and isolated and unhappy.

Other men feel very unhappy because they realize they can never get ahead; some are too lazy; they perhaps are clock-watchers who are repeatedly passed by for promotion. Others are jacks-of-all-trades—good at none. Many just won't take the trouble to learn enough of the job above them so that they can ever be promoted into it.

Next, there are the people who represent a square peg in a round hole. They don't like their job; they would like to be in another one but they don't dare make the change. Older men may feel that they have gotten as far as they can get, and that isn't far enough; or they are being threatened with retirement. Others lost a job in their fifties and can never get another one.

In the cases of women, there are some who had a career and loved it; they got married, and now they wish they were back in the old office. They hate housework, and want to be in business. Many of these women feel that they have no good way of expressing their natural gifts and talents. Many are not satisfied with marriage; perhaps the husband doesn't make enough; or the woman hates the fact that he is not as intelligent or able or well-educated as she is. Many are unhappy because the husband is dull and uninteresting.

I like these classifications of Dr. Hart. They bring up in my mind clinical pictures I have seen a hundred times and more. The clinical pictures I read about in some of the recent psychiatric literature do not satisfy me because in a long life never did I hear from patients of such things as castration fear or penis envy. Never in my life did a patient ever tell me of the symptoms which now fill the psychiatric books and journals, and this worries me.

I like much better the books of the older psychiatrists. For instance, my old friend, Dr. Abraham Myerson once wrote a book called "The Nervous Housewife." It is delightful and satisfying because it describes the every day nervous housewife with all her troubles and tribulations, worries, overwork, and sources of annoyance. Any tired mother, reading the book, would keep saying again and again, "That's me." That is why I like the book and why I greatly admired Myerson. He described so clearly and so faithfully what he saw, and what all of us—you laymen and we doctors—see every day.

Do-it-Yourself Show Planned By Kiwanis

Handyman's Heaven Will Open March 29

A "do-it-yourself show," sponsored by Victoria North Kiwanis Club, will be held in Victoria Curling Rink March 29-April 2, vice-president Ed Bowden-Green announced Tuesday night.

Retailers and manufacturers will be given the opportunity to demonstrate merchandise in booths which will be set up in the rink to promote home enterprise.

Included will be practical demonstrations in painting, sketching, sculpture from live models, a talent contest, feature exhibits, and major prizes for the public.

Proceeds will be put toward Kiwanis projects in Greater Victoria.

Reeve Joseph Casey, of Saanich, North Kiwanis president-elect, gave his inaugural address, in which he promised members he would do all in his power to make 1955 a "banner year" for the club.

Kiwanis Club's 40th anniversary was marked by a short address from Roger Emery, who stressed the "free man" as an ideal of the organization.

Ralph Cyril Kopperson, 145 Simcoe Street, was fined $35 or five days in city police court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Court was told an auto driven by the accused December 28 collided with a parked car on Yates near Wharf Street. Total damage was $140.

Much Maligned Petunia Takes New Lovely Forms

To most of us, petunias are an easily grown colorful annual for filling difficult places.

In this district they do not rate high horticulturally because there are so many finer subjects we can grow and which fit admirably into our conditions.

This is evident by not the picture in other parts of the continent, as I have discovered to my great surprise.

A wholesale catalogue which has just arrived devotes no less than 10 full pages exclusively to petunias. There are 250 varieties listed, varying in height from four to 24 inches; from single to fully double flowers; ruffled, striped or plain colors.

No longer is the petunia just a petunia when it commands more catalogue space than maps, pansies, marigolds, or any other popular flower.

As potted plants, the all-doubles are selling for one dollar each in some cities. This potted petunia craze started a few years back and the newer varieties are carrying it to greater popularity.

There is now a petunia suited to the dwarf edging of beds and borders, or for that splash of color in the rockery. Flower beds can be planted to one color of one height, or a variety of colors at various heights. Window boxes can be made gay with a petunia styled to the job, thanks to the petunia breeders.

Since the petunia is becoming so important, maybe we should raise some of the newer varieties, and possibly raise our opinion of this much maligned flower.

RAIL DISPUTE DELAYS SLOAN FOREST PROBE

B.C. Chief Justice Gordon Sloan will head east at the end of January to settle a minor point of conflict stemming from his arbitration of the Canadian railways dispute and then will return here to start hearings as a one-man Royal Commission into B.C.'s forest industry Feb. 21 in Victoria.

The "area of dispute" affecting dining car stewards, pullman porters, and other railway workers hinges on statutory holiday clauses of the arbitration findings.

Chief Justice Sloan said forestry commission hearings will be held in Victoria, Vancouver and other major centres in B.C.

The second Sloan commission on the province's forest resources is expected to last more than a year. The Chief Justice completed his first report in 1945, after about two years of study.

Police Handout Supplied Vanderbilt Thanksgiving

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Patricia Wallace Vanderbilt says the dinner she and her daughter ate on Thanksgiving Day in 1953 came from $5 given them by a kindly New York City policeman.

Testifying Tuesday in her suit for separation from Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., she said she had exhausted her money and had applied for city relief in August of that year.

"I was without funds," she had sold my fur coat and pawned my wedding and engagement rings for $450.

She said she and her daughter by a previous marriage had been eating at a restaurant where she had left her watch to cover the cost of their food.

"They were closed on Thanksgiving Day, 1953, so we went to a police station and a policeman gave my daughter and me $5 for food that day."

Before her marriage to Vanderbilt went on the rocks, she testified, they spent $100,000 a year on living expenses.

NIGHT-RUNNING HORSES RILE SAANICHTON FOLK

SAANICHTON—Horses owned by Indians are careening around the countryside to the detriment of gardens, Central Saanich council heard Tuesday.

Mr. John B. Windsor wanted the council to do something about the situation.

"These ponies are jumping fences and ruining vegetable plots. They roam uncontrolled, jump out on the road at night and scare the children."

As Indian administration is a federal matter, which apparently also applies to Indian horses—no action was taken.

ALERT BAY MAN GETS HOSPITAL JOB

CAMPBELL RIVER—Arthur S. Lightfoot, 32, of Alert Bay, today was named hospital administrator to the new 60-bed hospital to be built here.

He will take over new duties in April or early May.

Crash Victim Funeral Today

NANAIMO—Funeral services for Orville Akenhead, 29, killed Sunday in a car accident near Bear Creek, were scheduled to be held this afternoon from St. Andrew's United Church here, with Rev. Robert Moses officiating.

Mr. Akenhead was killed when the taxi he was driving plunged 170 feet off a trestle into a ravine on a private logging road in the Duncan district.

C. Saanich Council To Hear Town Planner

SAANICHTON—B. Wiseman, director of the Capital Regional Board, will be invited to address council here at its next meeting.

M & B Expansion Stirs Dispute On Port Alberni Tax Load

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran Jordan contends that the assessment increase ordered by the provincial government will load more taxes on home owners here because there can be no proportionate increase in pulp mill assessments which are fixed by cabinet approved agreements between the mills and municipality.

For the $30,000,000 expansion of the MacMillan & Bloedel pulp plant here, announced Tuesday, this may bring to a head an assessment dispute developing for some months.

The dispute is over a 1945 agreement between Bloedel

Stewart and Welch which built the pulp mill, and Port Alberni council which fixed plant assessment at $600,000 for improvements and $100,000 for the land.

The agreement, later ratified by the province, provided that any mill expansion, no matter what size, could only boost assessments by $100,000. This means the $30,000,000 addition will increase assessments to $700,000. Present M & B tax payments to Port Alberni are about $22,000 yearly. While recent assessment equalization increases general assessment of other properties here, it does not alter the pulp mill's fixed assessment.

The dispute may wind up in the courts, sources close to the dispute believe.

NANAIMO—Booming real estate sales and increased immigration were keynote predictions at the recent meeting of the Nanaimo Real Estate Board at which real estate men from the area met to discuss the 1955 outlook.

Present were real estate men from Victoria, Duncan, Chemainus, Ladysmith, Courtenay and Nanaimo.

Alex Reed of Victoria, president, Victoria Real Estate Board, and vice-president, B.C. Association of Real Estate Boards, said B.C. and particularly Vancouver Island was the last great frontier for new settlers, and predicted increased immigration from the U.S. in the face of the fast population hike there.

Volume of real estate sales in the Upper Island more than justified government construction of a land registry office in Nanaimo, board president Frank Neve said. Last year, real estate sales in Nanaimo totaled more than $5,000,000.

APARTMENT PROJECT

A report by Hugh Wilson of Nanaimo said there were signs of a $1,000,000 apartment house construction program with Vancouver capital as soon as restrictive regulations were lifted.

Farm sales in the Duncan area were chiefly to Dutch immigrants, according to William Farquhar, where more than 70 were now settled. Immigrants have created a demand for farm lands and the Dutch newcomers had been "very sincere" in paying off obligations, he said.

INCREASE FORECAST

Mr. Reed said settlement of vacancies of vacant lands was not likely to follow past patterns. Before, people came first and then industry. The situation was now reversed, and with the continuing industrial expansion of B.C. reflected on the island, increasing real estate business could be forecast.

Reeve Brown Inflexible On Loan Plan for New Roads

SAANICHTON—Reeve H. R. Brown of Central Saanich Tuesday held to his pre-election platform that all new road construction be paid for by local improvement loan and not from general revenue.

Otherwise, he told council, it would mean a mill rate increase.

He said he intended to have a by-law drawn up shortly, and the public works committee will make a tour of the municipality to determine road requirements. Council also heard that trucks

Noted Organist Dies at Duncan

Duncan—One of western Canada's outstanding organists, Paul Michelin died in King's Daughters' Hospital here Tuesday night. He was aged 59.

A pioneer of radio broadcasts of organ music he built himself a second career in this field after talking pictures ended the reign of organs in theatres.

At the height of his career he received hundreds of fan letters daily and won a cup as western Canada's second most popular radio personality.

In 1939 he joined the army as an official entertainer and organized concert parties for troops on Vancouver Island.

Since the war he has been teaching music at Cobble Hill. He is survived by his wife; a sister, Mrs. Horace Pimley, Vancouver; two brothers, Frank, in Victoria, and Louis, head of Austin Motor Co. for Canada, in Toronto.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Victoria Youth Fined and Jailed On Weapon Count

NANAIMO—Patrick Fagan, Jr., 21, of Victoria, convicted in police court here Tuesday of carrying a dangerous weapon, was sentenced to 72 hours in jail and fined $125 and $50 costs.

He was arrested in connection with a Chinatown brawl Dec. 31 and maintained he drew a knife in self defense when a member of the party started swinging a piece of pipe.

One of the group, Mrs. Bernice Enger, received a scratch from the knife point when she stepped between Fagan and George Renaud.

2 For Heavy Fabrics and Large Loads

EXCLUSIVE "TELA-FABRIC" SIGNAL LIGHT SHOWS WASHING CYCLE SELECTED

You can't make a mistake! Kelvinator's Tela-Fabric signal shows you at all times what washing cycle has been selected. Single dial controls entire washing operation of both cycles. Backward has full-width fluorescent floodlight.

It's like having two entirely separate Automatic Washers. The new 1955 Kelvinator has two complete, totally automatic cycles. Set the dial to "Regular Fabrics" for the ideal washing cycle for regular and heavy soiled laundry.

Or turn the dial to "Fine Fabrics" and you have another, completely automatic washing cycle just right for sheers, nylons or for lighter midweek loads. And you'll save almost half the time and half the soap and water, too.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Remember Bevo Francis, the angular giant from that previously unknown midwestern school in Ohio who was hogging the basketball headlines a year or so ago?

And remember Newt Oliver, the little coach of that little teachers' college in Rio Grande who got just as much ink for making Bevo the phenom that he was?

Here was the greatest player since Naismith first hung a peach basket on a wall. And Oliver was the greatest coach for discovering the fellow who was, Newt said, to make a shambles of all present, past and future scoring records.

No doubt, you've heard but little of Bevo and Newt these past months.

For one reason, Bevo was expelled from Rio Grande College last spring. When the announcement came, Bevo was fishing—not for headlines or fame, but just plain fishing, which it appears he had a habit of doing when he should have been at class.

When Oliver heard the news he quit the college cold. But not so cold that he wouldn't freeze to death.

For Newt had other plans and they concerned him and Bevo. Who else?

Abe Got 'Em Off the Hook

Somewhere along the line he got word to Abe Sapperstein that he and Bevo were on the loose and what better could Abe do than sign up the attraction? It's not known for sure whether Abe fell for a line or just got Newt off the hook. At any rate he offered them a $3,000 lure and they accepted the bait gladly.

And so they haven't really disappeared. They are now part and parcel of the Globe-Trotter cast which will appear here a week from Monday.

Newt is coach of the Boston Whirlwinds, the foil for Harp's western troupe. Bevo is the straight-man for the club in a production which includes table tennis players, a slack wire, a balancing act, a juggler and the necessary cheesecake.

Bevo is second run to the Trotters, but he's still first-class to Newt. "Give him the ball and he'll score," says Oliver. And the guy can put the ball in the net. That's for sure. But it's unlikely if he'll rap in 113 points here as he did on his most famous evening against some school called Hillsdale.

To Newt it's probably a big come-down to what his plans once included. For here was a man who toyed with a man-made monster—a dream of fame and wealth to all concerned with the original production. That was before Bevo got expelled.

Basketball to Benefit

The money promised Newt and his plans for a new athletic plant never materialized. Now Rio Grande is back where it was before Bevo—a four-building school with a student body of 191 whose main relaxation is hanging around the corner filling station.

There's no advance publicity on how many points Francis has scored against the Trotters, suffice to say that he won't score any more than the Trotters will deem necessary.

For they really are the attraction. Bevo, for his part, will split $30,000 with Newt.

But it should be forth a tumble, this contest—particularly because of the Trotters, the best in the business; out of curiosity to see Bevo in action; and objectively, because all proceeds will go into a melting pot for the furtherance of basketball and its needs in the city.

A BOY DOING A MAN'S JOB

Heard About Hurd? Ask Bob, He'll Tell

Harvey Hurd turned giant killer in the senior men's open singles in the first round of the Victoria Badminton championships Tuesday night.

Soccer Clubs Face Heavy League Action

The Victoria and District Football Association will have a full slate of six first division and Oliver Cup games on tap this weekend.

In the first division Saturday, Esquimalt and JBAA will try to advance at each others expense when they tangle at Heywood Avenue. On Sunday, Heaney's will be out to increase their league lead when they meet Victoria West at lower Beacon Hill Park.

Second division teams will continue their Oliver Cup series with one game Saturday and three on Sunday.

On Saturday Wood Motors play Combines at lower Beacon Hill Park.

On Sunday it will be Duncan Native Sons vs. Tillamook at Central Park; Butler Bros. vs. Canadian Scottish at Royal Road and Dutch Wanderers vs. Punjab United at Bullen Park.

All games, first and second division, start at 2.

Predicts Pennant

CHICAGO (AP)—Marty Marion, the former Spiders' Mr. Shortstop of St. Louis Cardinals, Tuesday finally became official 1955 manager of Chicago White Sox. He at once predicted a pennant season for the Pale Hose.

TWO SQUASH TOURNAMENTS PLANNED FOR CITY

Two major squash tournaments will be held in Victoria this spring.

The Victoria club next month will hold their club tournament. Pacific Northwest championships will take place at the Sussex and Naden courts on March 11, 12 and 13.

The Pacific Coast Squash tournament championships will be held in Vancouver at the Vancouver Squash Club on January 21, 22, and 23.

City officials, at present, are hoping that more younger players will join the local club.

When You Talk About Hockey

Max Bentley, one of hockey's all-time greats, will be the feature attraction tonight as Victoria Cougars host Saskatoon Quakers at Memorial Arena.

Griffin Fund at $2500; Further Shows Planned

The Ken Griffin Fund soared over the $2,500 mark Tuesday night when a 1½-hour request program on radio station CJVI brought in pledges totalling $1,060.15.

Victorians listening to the show kept telephones jumping and kept the popular Home-owners busy filling musical requests that accompanied the pledges.

The week is not over yet for the Griffin Fund. Station CKDA will hold a Ken Griffin Show Friday night at 10.10, and the Victoria Amateur Boxing Association is holding a 12-bout fight card Friday night with all proceeds going to the fund for the former soccer player, now a polo victim.

HEAVY RESPONSE
Tuesday's program was originally slated for one hour but response was so heavy that the sponsoring Hickman-Tye Co. gave an additional 15 minutes and the station added another half hour to handle the many pledges.

People calling the station with a pledge made a musical request that was filled in by the Home-owners and pianist Al Smith.

The fund now has reached approximately $2,540 and the committee in charge of the fund will soon be using all the money to purchase a new home for polo victim Griffin and his family of three.

Middleweight Contenders Meet Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani, the No. 2 contender for Bobo Olson's middleweight title, meets the No. 3 man, Holly Mims, tonight in a 12-round bout at Cleveland arena.

Castellani, who now lives in Cleveland, lost to Olson on points in a bout at San Francisco last summer and is now ranked behind Joey Giardello, the No. 1 contender.

Mims, a 25-year-old from Washington, D.C., has never been knocked out and is working on a string of 12 straight bouts without a defeat. Since October, 1952, he has won 11 and fought one draw.

Castellani, 27, has 37 victories on his record, six losses and a draw. Mims' record: 35 victories, 11 losses and five draws. Bettors favored the Cleveland 6-5.

FORMER GREATS PLAN YEARLY OUTING

Cage Memories Return

The shades of the past will be rolled up briefly Friday night for a glimpse into the basketball window of former years.

Not too alive basketball-wise but still kicking, the Oldtimers will put their phenomenal seven-year winning streak on the block against Victoria High School Totems in their annual game.

The Oldtimers are carefully recruited. To make the club, they must be short-winded and able to produce at least one grey hair, must be Vic High alumni and perhaps the most difficult qualification to fill, they must have played for a Canadian championship team.

Believe it or not, coach George "Porky" Andrews can floor a team conforming with those qualifications. The Oldtimers have been doing it for seven years now and they haven't lost a game to the young bloods from Vic High yet.

Toughest opponent for the Oldtimers has been the calendar and this year they have found, to their chagrin, that their age average is around 40. However, they are confident of making their streak eight straight. Last year they came on strong in the second half to nip the Totems, 45-39.

The great names of the old Blue Ribbon and Domino days who will make up the team are Andrews, Doug Peden, Art and Chuck Chapman, Ollie Goldsmith, Ian and Alex McKeachie, Red Martin, Busher Jackson, Hank Rowe and Claude Sluggett.

Quakers on Move; Play Here Tonight

STUKUS, WEINMEISTER ON SCOUTING JAUNT

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Coach Annis Stukus and tackle-scout Arnie Weinmeister of the British Columbia Lions of the Western Inter-provincial Football Union leave for Los Angeles today to scout the annual pro bowl football game Sunday at Pasadena, Calif.

Meanwhile, the club announced that a directors' meeting had been scheduled for Thursday to screen names of four applicants for two vacant assistant coaching jobs.

WINNER AT ANY COST

Cash No Object To Rangers Now

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Rangers, tired of being pushed around by other clubs in the National Hockey League, vow they will dig deep into the cash reserves if necessary to acquire players who might better their lowly position.

General manager Frank Boucher told a hockey writers' luncheon Tuesday that he had been authorized to go all out "with any amount of money" to produce a winning team. Instructions to this effect were given him by John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden Corp., owners of the Rangers.

The Rangers are in fifth place in the six-team league, and have won only one game in their last 20.

"We have no intention of throwing in the sponge," Boucher said, "and no intention of going out for help when there is no help available." He predicted that the Rangers' position would show a decided improvement within 10 days.

EARLIER DEALS

Boucher's reference to outside assistance concerned deals made earlier this year under which some of the stronger teams helped Boston and Chicago with players.

These deals "left the barrel empty" of top calibre players available as trade-bait, Boucher said.

The Rangers claim their only offer of help came from Toronto Maple Leafs and that involved minor league players in the Leafs' American Hockey League farm club at Pittsburgh. Ranger officials plan to scout Pittsburgh but are not optimistic.

Boucher described efforts the Rangers made to obtain Dickie Moore from Montreal Canadiens.

"We did our best but we couldn't get him. We were told that a top-notch Ranger left-winger would have to be part of the deal. I've tried other deals, too, but didn't get anywhere."

Kilpatrick told the luncheon: "We have been doing and will continue to do everything physically possible to strengthen our team. Our moves and plans naturally cannot be discussed."

There are certain players he is particularly interested in. He indicated he may have feelers out for their purchase.

Ski Club Formed At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, Jan. 10—Named after a figure in the myths of Finland the Ulir Ski Club of the Alberni Valley was formed at a meeting Sunday night.

Twenty-five members signed up, the group to be registered under the Societies Act.

The adoption of a constitution, provision of instruction for novices and a club headquarters will be matters to be determined at a later meeting.

The new club hopes to be able to obtain skiing grounds in the Sproat Lake area. Insignia of the club will be a picture of Ulir described as a little man on skis.

Officers chosen were: President, L. J. Preece; vice-president, George Buchanan; secretary, Janet McDougall; treasurer, Ed Sweeten; publicity, Louise Cronski.

DETROIT—Ed Leggett, 194, Detroit, outplayed Stan Kurra, 18, Detroit, 60-55 after seven ends, Petterson going ahead in the eighth when Bullock twice missed.

Bullock scored one in the ninth. Petterson got one in the 10th. Then Bullock came up with a three-ender in the 11th to go ahead, 9-8.

Petterson was lying three in the 12th when Bullock's last rock picked up grit and stopped about halfway down the ice. As it was, the shot would have had to be near perfect for Bullock to get shot.

Summer Soccer Still Possible

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pacific Coast Soccer League Tuesday turned thumbs down on a proposal to operate as a summer circuit.

Council reaffirmed last year's policy of a split schedule, running from September through November, and a three-month layoff to March, when play resumes.

Many of the delegates to the meeting showed disagreement to council's decision, and indicated the matter would be brought up again.

NHL Crowds Show Increase

MONTREAL (CP)—For the first half of the current National Hockey League schedule, ending Dec. 30, overall attendance increased by about 15 per cent, president Clarence Campbell said Tuesday.

Compared with the first half of the 1953-54 schedule, only Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks showed decreases.

Montreal Canadiens topped the other five cities in the league with 243,387. Toronto Maple Leafs were next with 237,027. Each city recorded a small increase—a matter of more stanzas.

The greatest increase was 21,324, by New York Rangers. Detroit Red Wings played before 4,375 more home-rink customers.

Boston was down 6,234 and Chicago 7,173.

SEATTLE—Eddie Cotton, 151, Seattle, awarded decision over Frankie Daniels, 178, Bakersfield, Calif. Cotton unable to continue after two low blows by Daniels in fifth round.

Petterson Qualifies For Consols' Playoff

Frank Petterson has joined Tony Gutoski as Victoria's representatives in the Island British Consols curling playdowns.

Petterson Tuesday night defeated Eric Bullock in a playoff, 11-9. The two rinks had previously tied with 6 and 3 records in the round-robin competition.

Gutoski had a 9 and 0 record to qualify handily.

Petterson and Gutoski will meet in their match of the Island series Thursday night at 8.

The Island playdowns will be held Saturday and Sunday at Victoria club.

In Tuesday's match, the lead changed hands four times. It was 5-5 after seven ends, Petterson going ahead in the eighth when Bullock twice missed.

Bullock scored one in the ninth. Petterson got one in the 10th. Then Bullock came up with a three-ender in the 11th to go ahead, 9-8.

Petterson was lying three in the 12th when Bullock's last rock picked up grit and stopped about halfway down the ice. As it was, the shot would have had to be near perfect for Bullock to get shot.

Rout Cdnucks; Reay May Miss Game

Saskatoon 5, Vancouver 1.

It may not appear so on the surface but there's more at stake in tonight's Western Hockey League contest at Memorial Arena than meets the eye.

The Saskatoon Quakers, visitors here, at long last are beginning to make their bid for recognition in the race to the wire.

The Quakers aren't yet threat for a playoff spot as yet, but they're showing designs of being a factor in the race nevertheless.

Tuesday night in Vancouver they scored their second straight victory, a 5-1 trouncing of Vancouver's Canucks. This followed a 6-0 blanking of Calgary Saturday.

Vancouver Cougars on the other hand are again bidding for third place before embarking on their third prairie road trip next week.

Cougars, who trail Westminster by four points and meet the Royals twice in a home-and-home series Thursday and Friday, can hurdle the Royal City crew by taking a sweep of the week's games.

TOGETHER AGAIN

In addition the Quakers will be showing for the first time here one of the great brother combinations in hockey—the Bentleys.

Doug the Quaker coach, will have his brother Max alongside of him tonight and the return of Max to the Quaker lineup after a case of ulcers sidelined him for a time has been an important cog in the Quaker machine the last two games.

The former Chicago, Toronto and New York player, twice NHL scoring champion, and once the league's most valuable player, Maxwell Herbert Lloyd Bentley scored one goal in the club's win Tuesday.

Others want to Ray Manson, who got two, the 99th and 100th of his WHL career, and Eldie Kobussen and Jackie McLeod.

Vancouver's tally went to defenseman Jack Lancia.

Game time tonight is 8.30 with the only doubtful Cougar starter being coach Billy Reay who is still suffering the effects of a body check administered by Bill Ezinicki a week ago tonight.

Baseball Suit May Be Settled For $200,000

CHICAGO (AP)—An application has been filed in the U.S. bankruptcy court in Dallas, Tex., for authority to dismiss a $120,000 anti-trust suit against 13 major league baseball clubs upon settlement payment of $200,000, the American League announced on Monday.

The application was filed by William U. Rochelle, Jr., trustee in bankruptcy of the Liberty Broadcasting System. The anti-trust suit was brought in 1952 by the now defunct LBS.

The suit was against every major league club except Chicago White Sox, Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Redlegs.

The suit contended the defendants controlled and suppressed competition in the interstate broadcast of professional baseball games.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

First meeting of the spring session of the Victoria YMCA Young Adult Club will be held in the YMCA building on Feb. 1, marking the commencement of a membership drive by the group.

Persons interested in joining may contact the YMCA at 3-8811 or the club publicity chairman at 3-8357.

The extent to which Victoria merchants should participate in the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association will be discussed next Monday by the retail merchants' group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The group has scheduled a luncheon meeting in the Pacific Club.

There was some criticism last year that city retailers did not support the May 24 celebration to a proper extent, particularly the parade.

Failure to notify the motor vehicles branch of change of address cost John Martin Howitt, 122 Beacon Avenue, $20, when he appeared in city police court Tuesday.

He was fined $10 for failure to notify on Nov. 24, 1954, and an additional $10 for a similar offense Jan. 6.

Charles David Moore, 1505 Monterey, was fined $20 or four days in city police court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to speeding.

Police said he was clocked Dec. 28 at 45 miles per hour.

In city police court Tuesday James Leigh Graham, 150 Island Highway, was fined $40 and his license suspended when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Graham was involved in a two-car collision Dec. 24 at Langford and Catherine Streets. Total damage was $325.

Douglas Wayne Tenning, 1919 Fernwood, was fined a total of $65 or 10 days in city police court Tuesday on two charges of driving while his license was suspended.

"Often in pain after meals" says salesman who found quick relief

"When I'm short of time for meals on the road, I often end up grabbing a bite to eat on the run. No wonder meals gave me indigestion and heartburn! Another salesman told me to try Digestif Rennie Tablets. Now I suck a couple of Rennies after meals when needed, and they certainly are effective," writes Mr. D. H. Heron, Toronto, Ont.

When your stomach feels sour, upset and flatulent, suck a Digestif Rennie Tablet. Rennies neutralize the excess acid and quickly relieve heartburn and indigestion. Ask for Rennies, only 25¢ at drugists.

KEITH A. BRYAN'S CAR COLUMN

"I meet some interesting '55 cars"

YESTERDAY, I had the chance to preview drive Ford's British-built cars for 1955. And I quickly discovered some brand-new reasons why so many cars from this manufacturer are appearing on our Canadian roads.

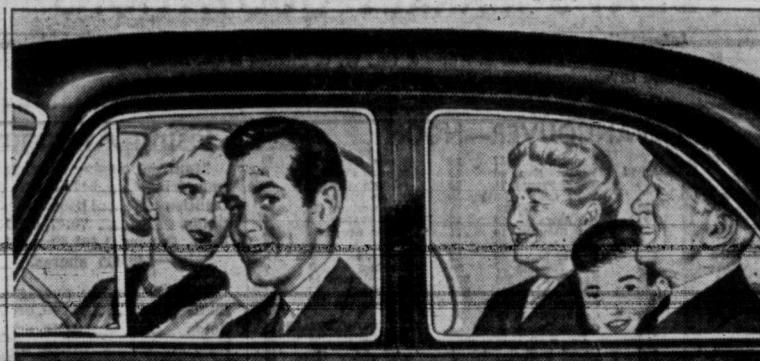

Roomier than you think The first surprise I got came when I sat in the Consul. I couldn't imagine, looking at it from the outside, that it offers lounging room for four adults, and quite comfortable space for six. Later, looking the car over, I soon saw how it was done—not a single inch of space is wasted in this trim, clean looking car.

"Go," too, surprising Looking under the hood of the brand new Anglia, I saw the engine that has become a by-word for economy. Later, putting this car through its paces, I soon learned that Ford's British engineers know how to get more "Go" out of small engines than any other car maker on earth. With it's favourable power-to-weight ratio you feel there is really big horsepower under the hood.

A British Ford for you? Frankly, I don't know. But the idea has many merits. Gas savings and easier parking are but two examples. There are six British-built Ford cars for you to choose from: the Zephyr, the Consul, the Prefect, the Anglia . . . and the sporty Zephyr and Consul convertibles. Why not see the Ford of Canada Dealer who sells and services these cars in your locality . . . and get the full story. I am sure it's a visit you won't regret.

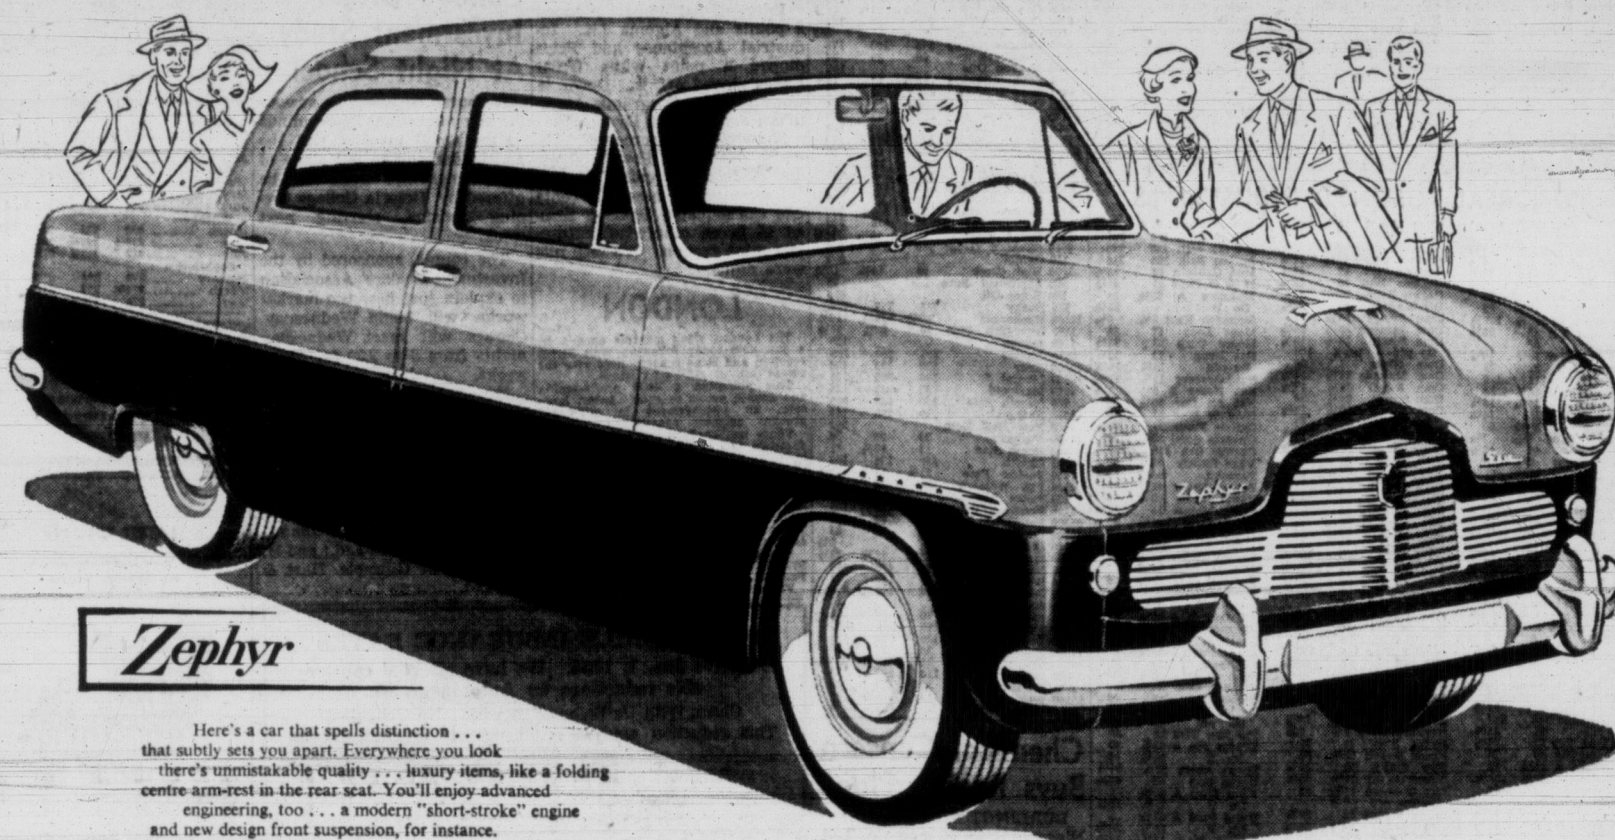

Plenty of room. "There's plenty of room for us all" explained this family man to our reporter, "in Ford's British-built Consul. And it's amazing how often I can find enough space in which to park easily. And I'm specially pleased with its gas economy. With the Consul you save money hand over fist."

They're here! And they're news!

Ford's 1955 British-built Cars

ZEPHYR • CONSUL • PREFECT • ANGLIA

Zephyr

Here's a car that spells distinction . . . that subtly sets you apart. Everywhere you look there's unmistakable quality . . . luxury items, like a folding centre arm-rest in the rear seat. You'll enjoy advanced engineering, too . . . a modern "short-stroke" engine and new design front suspension, for instance.

They're small cars in dimensions only . . . each is roomier and livelier than you can imagine . . . and delightful to drive and park!

They're all new for '55—and your thriftiest new car buy. Just think of the money you'll save, driving one of Ford's British-built cars! They're roomier and livelier than you can imagine . . . and with many carefully thought out details that add so much to your driving pleasure.

Here's real roominess inside and beauty out! And you'll enjoy the Consul's lively, eager performance . . . and the way it takes the corners, as if on rails. Get the proof—behind the wheel!

CONSUL

PREFECT

The sleek Prefect offers big-car headroom . . . wonderfully comfortable "within-the-axles" seating . . . ten cubic feet of luggage space . . . and up to forty-two miles per gallon.

ANGLIA

Meet Canada's No. 1 economy car, the smart new '55 Anglia. Despite its low price, it has many fine-car features . . . deep-sprung foam rubber seating front and rear, for example. Why not make a brand-new Anglia your second car?

Whitewall tires optional at extra cost.

U.S. LABOR GROUP MERGER TALKS TO EFFECT CANADIANS

Union of AFL and CIO Thought Inevitable; Negotiations Due to Start Within Weeks

By AB KENT

Labor's most important negotiations of 1955, the complex task of outlining a definite plan for merging the AFL and CIO, are due to take place in Washington, D.C., within the next few weeks.

Affected by such a move will be virtually every labor union in North America, with the exception of such minority groups as the Federation of Catholic Workers, which together with other "unaffiliated" unions in Canada embrace about 400,000 members.

More than 1,000,000 members are claimed by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which has AFL affiliation, and the Canadian Congress of Labor, with CIO affiliation. The latter has more than four million members on the continent.

QUESTION OF TIME

It is felt by Ed Townsend, special correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, that actual negotiations will present no real barrier to a quick unification of the rival organizations. The only question is when it will take place.

The year-end Los Angeles convention of the CIO proved that a merger could be consummated, said Mr. Townsend, but he also feels that the CIO will have to change its structure in a merger with the AFL, or differences may crop up as in the past.

The convention strongly urged CIO affiliated unions to seek new bargaining gains in 1955, probably as a result of economist Stanley Ruttenberg's report that the national economy in the U.S. in 1955 will be better than in 1954, but not quite as good as in 1953.

SAME IN CANADA

The same prediction for Canada's economy in 1955 has been made by Canadian experts. To judge from the tenor of Six recruits were enrolled in Victoria Red Cross Corps at the start of a new training course at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort, Monday night.

Following enlistment the women began training and heard lectures by Mrs. Jean Pearce on activities of the Victoria Red Cross Society, and by Mrs. A. E. Evans, RN, who demonstrated new methods of home nursing.

Officials said today that additional recruits to the corps would be accepted at lectures set for next Monday night at 7.30 o'clock.

Applicants must be over 18 and physically fit. They must provide their own uniforms at the conclusion of their course.

Sommers to Study Ottawa Bill on Control of Rivers

Lands Minister R. E. Sommers is withholding comment on Ottawa's water export control legislation until he is able to study the new bill, which is aimed at blocking the B.C. government's deal on the Kaiser dam.

Mr. Sommers was asked today whether the provincial government would contest the new act in the courts, as he threatened recently. "I don't know," he said.

The water power bill will force private interests and provincial governments to obtain a federal permit before construction works affecting the natural flow of rivers or streams flowing across international borders.

Mr. Sommers said he expects a copy of the bill in a few days, and said he would not comment

How To Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

There is good advice to hundreds of men who are suffering from piles. You probably don't realize that sheer neglect on your part may be the reason for this nagging, painful discomfort.

It is a medical fact that pain, itching and soreness of piles are greatly increased by INTERNAL CONGESTION and constipation. Your liver action is sluggish—intestinal wastes harden—straining at stool bruises delicate rectal membranes—blood clots settle in the bruised areas—painful lumps form. When this happens you want relief and you want it fast. If neglected it may become chronic. Then it can be most serious.

Now, quick relief is offered you with Hemroid INTERNAL Pile Treatment (small tablets taken with water). This gently persistent medicine eases congestion—stimulates the flow of bile—breaks up and smoothly passes of intestinal waste—helps shrink the piles and permits them to heal. With the very first use of Hemroid you get almost immediate relief through effective INTERNAL action. Piles do not come from an outside cause. They come from congested conditions inside the body. That is why an internal medicine like Hemroid is so satisfactory to use—why hundreds of users have written their thanks for making Hemroid available to them. Don't suffer needlessly. Hemroid offers you real help. Ask at any drug store for Hemroid—get 30 full days' supply at a surprisingly low cost. Test this grand medicine today. Money refunded if not delighted. Stop your needless suffering. Get quick acting Hemroid NOW.

Don't Trust to Luck

(The Times presents in serialised form the new issue of Lord Beaverbrook's book. Installments will appear daily).

CHAPTER VIII

A FOOLISH PHRASE

There is one attitude against which I warn the young man who would do well in life—that summed up in the phrase: "Trust to Luck."

No attitude is more hostile to success, and no phrase more foolish. The phrase is foolish because in a university governed by the law of cause and effect, strictly speaking there can be no such thing as luck. There is much more in the saying: "Mrs. Harris, don't pin your nose to the post, it will not always go by chance." In other words Mrs. Harris was a good cook. So with the consistently "lucky" man. It is a fair assumption that he is a consistently industrious and able man.

What we really mean when we say "trust to luck" is "trust to circumstances outside our own control." And as long as there is any chance whatever of controlling those factors, not to bring them under control is, of course, folly.

As the years pass I become increasingly reluctant to believe in any kind of luck. I once wrote that: "It is luckier to be born heir to a peerage and £100,000 than to be born in Whitechapel." Even that no longer is true. Being born to poverty may be a spur, whereas being born to riches may lead to ruin.

May Be Reasons

If a disaster should destroy a man's fortune, something he has labored many years of his life to build, we naturally think that he has had bad luck. But it may be that the disaster was caused by factors which he neglected to control. Or it may be that the disaster was a blessing in disguise, forcing him to exercise intellectual muscles endangered by atrophy, or to strengthen his character at some hitherto unsuspected weak point.

So I will not dogmatize about the existence of luck, except to say this—do not trust in it.

The idea that some are born lucky and some unlucky, in the same way that some are born to be tall and some born to be short, is just nonsense. Most "good luck" may be explained by industry and judgment, most "bad luck" by a lack of these qualities.

The gambler's creed has been defined as a belief in the imagined tendencies of chance to produce events continuously favorable or continuously unfavorable. To live in this sort of mental atmosphere is to live in a nightmare. It seems to drive some people very nearly insane. They constantly consult oracles of one sort or another or perform compulsive actions in a ceaseless endeavor to propitiate fortune.

Fortune cannot be flattered by such fetishworship. But she can be wooed and won by hard work.

Failure Deserved

The law of some games of chance is inexorable. It is for instance in card games like canasta or cribbage that in the long run a skilful player will beat a player less skilled. So with the great game of life. He who succeeds will be he who, through the totality of his qualities, deserves to succeed. He who fails will be he who deserves to fail and nowhere more than in this—that he has trusted to luck where he should have trusted to himself.

It may be that most of us have something of the gambler in our dispositions. We achieve real success only when we have got the better of that imp or demon. In affairs the gambler is doomed before he begins to play.

Consider the young man who stakes everything on the hope that some magic key to success will be placed before him on a golden plate. Pathetic is his plight. He consistently refuses good offers or even small chances of work because they are not good enough for him. He expects that luck will suddenly bestow on him a ready-made position or a gorgeous

Do not believe any of this mystical rubbish.

The real explanation is very different. Eminent men who are closely in touch with the great affairs of politics or business often act on what appears to be instinct. But, in truth, they have absorbed, through a careful and continuous study of events, so much knowledge that they appear to reach a conclusion "without stopping to think," just as the heart beats without any conscious stimulus from the brain. Ask them for the reasons of their decision, and they can say no more than "just a hunch." Their conscious minds do not take into account the long-learned experience beneath the level of their conscious thinking. When they prove right in their forecast the world exclaims: "What luck!" The world would do better to exclaim: "What judgment! What a wealth of experience!"

Terrible Disease

These men in middle age fall into a well-known class. They can be seen waylaying their more industrious and successful associates to pour out a sorry tale of the misfortune which has dogged them throughout life and prevented their reaping the rewards which ought to have been theirs. They develop that terrible disease known as "the genius of the untried."

Far different is the attitude of the man who really means to succeed. He will banish the idea of luck from his mind. He will accept every opportunity, however small it may appear, which seems to lead to the possibility of greater things. He will not wait on that airy-fairy concept called luck to launch him royally on his career. He will make his own opportunity and develop its chances by his industry. Here and there he may go wrong, where judgment or experience is lacking. But out of his very defeats he will learn to do better in the future, and in the maturity of his knowledge he will attain success. At least he will not be found sitting down and whining that luck has been against him.

'Psychic Bids'

There remains to be considered a more subtle argument in favor of a belief in luck: It is that certain men possess a kind of sixth sense, so that they know by instinct what enterprise will succeed or fail, or whether the market will rise or fall. These men are supposed to make their way to success by what might be called a series of "psychic bids."

He can attain to that goal only by his own sense of direction and relentless toil. There is no substitute for toil. He who is work-shy will never achieve a permanent success. At best he will eke out a bare subsistence. At worst he will become a charge on the national health.

SIX TONS SHIPPED OVERSEAS

Quakers Set Record With Clothing Drive

Victoria Quakers during 1954 set a new record in collecting and shipping used clothing to needy persons overseas.

Capt. G. S. Harris, head of the clothing drive for the Society of Friends, reported today more than six tons of clean, useable clothing was shipped from here during the year.

"It was the biggest year we've had," he said.

Two shipments went to war-ravaged Korea, while the bulk went to centres in West Germany and used to outfit refugees fleeing from the Red-controlled East Zone.

MILLIONS IN NEED

"All the clothing that has been shipped from here in the last three years has been sent to distribution points in West Germany close to the border and used to help refugees. Reports we have received say more than a million refugees crossed the border in the last three years," Capt. Harris said.

"And most of them had only the clothes they stood in."

Donations of clothing have come not only from the Greater Victoria area, he reported. Up Island residents have contributed, too, and one lot of clothing was shipped to the Victoria collecting centre from a church group in Trail.

The volunteer workers have organized a system at their meeting house, 1831 Fern Street, to handle the large quantity of clothing received. They have built their own bailing machine, which compresses the clothing into 65-pound bundles for shipment.

Capt. Harris takes considerable pride in the fact that not one dollar was required for shipping charges last year. One lot of clothing sent to Korea was dispatched aboard the Canadian destroyer Sioux. Merchant ships loading lumber here for the port of London are tendered for Europe without charge.

"Being a master mariner myself, I talk the same language as the captains and they've been most co-operative when I explain what we're doing," Capt. Harris said.

The need for clothing continues as great as ever, he stressed. All types of clothing are required but there is a particular need for men's wear. Garments should be clean and have at least 50 per cent of their wear still in them. Women's high-heeled shoes are not wanted.

Clothing is expected at the Friends' Meeting House, 1831 Fern Street, and at the Co-operative Store, 618 Pandora. Cash donations to assist the work are handled by the secretary-treasurer of the Society of Friends.

BETWEEN TIMES

By JUDY BOOTS STREAK

I guess you people have all been wondering what I have been doing the past few months.

In fact, I guess some of you people wonder who I am to wonder if you have been wondering what I have been doing the past few months.

Well the answer to the second question is, I am Judy Boots Streak, the female-type dog who lives at The Old Man's house, and if you wonder why I answer the second question (which I asked myself) before I answer the first question (which I also asked myself) it is because I am a female-type, and female-types are traditionally allowed to answer their own questions in any order or sequence which pleases them (the female types, that is).

So now you understand I am a female-type, and as you are permitted to listen while I answer my first question, which was, I think, in regard to, with reference to, what have I been doing the past few months?

I will be glad to answer the question. (After all, it is my own question, so why should I not be glad to answer it? I ask a question, I get a question, I always say, and when I've asked enough questions, I sometimes often answer them. At least one, that is. If I feel like it. And I do. As I mentioned, I'm a female-type.)

Now, what was the question? Oh yes. What have I been doing?

The answer is, what I have been doing is growing UP. In case you do not think this is a difficult thing to do, you have never tried growing up when you are a dog.

A dog tries very hard to grow up, and what happens? All the human-types around and about (especially The Old Man) keep saying, "DOWN," and I ask you how can you grow UP when all you hear is DOWN?

I have tried to discuss this with The Old Man, but to no avail. No matter what I say, he won't listen. And if I do catch his attention long enough to engage him in conversation, all he will say is "DOWN," or "NO."

You must admit, this is not very stimulating conversation when directed at a female-type dog.

But what I really wanted to tell you, before I interrupted me (being a female-type) is that as of Saturday, I will be longer allowed to be referred to as a pup-dog.

On Saturday, Jan. 15, I will celebrate my first birthday.

I will be one whole year old, and if you don't believe me, Donnie Reid has it down in black-and-white.

So what I was going to say is, I have devoted enough time to growing UP while The Old Man keeps saying DOWN, and as of Saturday, I intend to branch out on my own.

As for The Old Man, I am going to bone up on writing, and maybe we will get a little meat into this column.

Businessmen Urged to Aid UBC Students

City Chamber Hears President MacKenzie

A call for B.C. businessmen to give more attention and more financial aid to their university was made today by Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, president of UBC, in an address this afternoon to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The university leader expressed concern that many promising students were denied university training because of financial problems.

"Through the expenditure of relatively small amounts of money, all of these could be assisted, and would, in return, contribute to a greater degree than is now possible to the welfare and the prosperity of their fellow citizens and of their country."

He felt this was one place business could help materially.

At the same time he made clear students were not expecting or desiring "something for nothing."

PAY OWN WAY

Quoting from information obtained from present students of the school, apart from first-year and graduate students, Dr. MacKenzie said 1,918 men and 157 women were paying their way entirely by themselves and 1,123 men and 284 women were paying all expenses except for room and board.

Dr. MacKenzie argued the more education received by everyone, "the better it is for us, for our province and our nation."

"No doubt, there are some in our universities who do not get much out of the experience," he conceded. "But I am not too much worried about them for they tend to sort themselves out in due course."

Prison Terms Ordered in Drug Case

Two men caught in a New Year's Eve raid in a downtown hotel got prison terms when they appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today for sentence on a charge of possession of drugs.

Robert Dale Castonguay, 24, was ordered incarcerated for one year at Okalla and David John King, 31, was sentenced to nine months.

Castonguay told the magistrate that "the drugs were mine, King didn't know where they were. The drugs were in my possession all the way over here."

King said that his health was bad and he wanted to break the habit and return to his home at Courtenay.

Thirteen capsules of narcotics identified by police as diacetyl morphine hydrochloride were taken in the raid.

Two other men and a 17-year-old girl were also caught by police.

It was reported one of the two men, Kenneth Hayter, was recently sentenced in juvenile court to six months on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

The other man taken in the raid, Tom Laverick, is still awaiting sentence on a similar charge, while the girl has been charged as a juvenile delinquent.

Car Speed, Drink Blamed in Death

Lamont Refused Ride in Pal's Auto

James Matthew Lamont, 20, refused an offer to ride with a friend early Sunday, and instead drove to his death a few minutes later when his car left the highway in View Royal.

A coroner's jury today decided that he died accidentally from unknown causes after leaving a Saturday night party at which there was drinking.

The party had been at the home of Thomas Marshall, 3123 Admirals, a friend of Lamont, who offered the deceased a place in his car for the drive to Cambridge Auto Court, near the scene of the accident, where the pair planned to visit.

Although Marshall testified Lamont "had a few drinks" of beer that night, he said he could "hardly tell" from Lamont's appearance and did not try to prevent him from driving his own car.

Marshall came upon the scene of the accident about 10 minutes later, and found Lamont dead.

BOUNCED 63 FEET

RCMP evidence by Cpl. Joseph Shepherd, Colwood Detachment, determined that the death car traveled 47 feet two inches from the slightly curved highway between Jedburgh and Helmcken before striking an eight-inch-thick tree, then bounced off another 63 feet before coming to rest on its left side.

"I consider that considerable speed was being maintained at the time the car left the road," Cpl. Shepherd said.

According to evidence of a nurse, Mrs. Ronald Wallbank, an occupant of the "second or third car" on the scene following the accident, Lamont died almost instantly.

She attempted to find pulse and heart-beat of the young carter, and tried to stop profuse bleeding, without success.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said he had no doubt that Lamont died of a fractured skull, judging from the blood which came from the dead man's nose, mouth and ears.

"It is a case of a little alcohol and speed, which don't mix very well," he said, on charging the jury with the task of finding a verdict.

He recommended a verdict of accidental death, observing that a man cannot be indicted for his own death.

NO SKID MARKS

RCMP Cpl. Clifford Dryden, photographer, called to the scene of the accident, said there were no skid marks on the highway where it was determined Lamont's car left the curve.

He said only two tire indentations on the shoulder of the Island Highway marked the spot where Lamont drove.

Saturday Rites For Roy Moir, 53, Scottish Veteran

A Canadian National Railway employee for 31 years and a former member of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, second battalion, Roy Moir, 53, died in the Veterans' Hospital Tuesday.

Born in West Hartlepool, Durham, England, Mr. Moir moved to Victoria in 1907. He joined the 133rd Battalion as a bugler during the First World War, and joined the Scottish in 1921, serving as medical sergeant and drum major until his discharge in 1941.

He also taught in private pipe bands. He was a member of the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion.

Surviving are his wife, Peggy, and a son, Colin, both at his home at 1580 Hillside; a brother, Alex; two sisters, Mrs. E. I. Robinson of Victoria, and Mrs. E. J. Geddes of Ottawa.

Funeral services will be held at McCall Brothers at 1.45 p.m. Saturday, with Rev. E. Foreman, D.D., officiating. Interment will be at Colwood Burial Park.

ONE DUNSMUIR WAS PUBLIC PARAGON, BUT BROTHER REVELLED IN BARBARY COAST'S WILD NIGHT LIFE

Great-Grandson's Book Unveils Legendary Dunsmuir Frolics, Foibles With Coal-Mine Riches

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Victorians will soon be reading a tell-tale book about the city's most legendary family—the Dunsmuirs—former rulers of one of the most formidable financial empires in western America.

Author of the book is James G. P. Audain of Royal Oak, 54-year-old great-grandson of Robert Dunsmuir, founder of a fabulous fortune built from Vancouver Island coal.

Entitled "From Coal Mine to Castle," the family biography is due to roll off the press of a U.S. publishing firm in May.

Mr. Audain is also dickering with Hollywood studios to have the story made into a film.

It took five years for Mr. Audain to line up the family history from the Provincial Archives and libraries of historical institutes in California. Some of the material is also based on personal recollections, letters and diaries.

"I thought I knew my family history until I began to dig into the matter," said the author. "I was astounded at what I found. It nearly bowled me over."

The story starts with Robert, a penniless Scottish settler, who discovered coal at Nanaimo in the 1850's. From then on the Dunsmuir star skyrocketed and was reflected in such swanky homes as the Dunsmuir Castle, Burleigh House, Hatley Park, now Royal Roads, expensive yachts, glittering balls and gay champagne parties.

Central figures in the book are James and Alexander, sons of Robert Dunsmuir. The two financial wizards kept adding to the massive fortune invested in land, railways and shipping all along the coast from San Francisco to Victoria.

"At the turn of the century," Mr. Audain related,

"James was known by people all along the coast as the largest landowner in North America. It was said he was only surpassed by a Chinese landowner in China."

James was all powerful in British Columbia and Victoria was completely under his control. He carried more prestige than the governor.

A conscientious businessman, James took pride and interest in the development of his province. Ottawa officials pressed him to enter politics. He became twice premier and finally lieutenant-governor of the province.

Alexander, his brother, lived in San Francisco where he ran the family affairs in that state. He was a complete contrast. He loved the wild night life of the Barbary Coast and his friends came from all walks.

"Victorians know little about Alexander," said Mr. Audain, "but he ranks as one of the most colorful characters in the history of San Francisco. You could write a complete story about him."

Alexander died in 1908 in his 40s, leaving his vast estate to James. This resulted in Edna Wallace Hopper, well-known actress and step-daughter of Alexander, launching a suit against James. The civil action attracted the attention of the entire Anglo-Saxon world. Lawyers made money hand over fist on the lawsuit which finally went before the House of Lords in England.

Mr. Audain says that when the civil suit was first heard in Victoria, a shipload of witnesses arrived from California. The witnesses included glamorous women, bellhops, night club dancers, maids, miners, all former friends of Alexander.

"They reflected all the characters of Barbary Coast," said Mr. Audain.

The suit was finally won after six years of litigation by James. He retained the fortune of his brother.

James died in 1920 and the glittering Dunsmuir star which had shone so brightly began to fade. The millionaire's fortune was divided among his eight daughters whose travels abroad soon attracted world-wide attention.

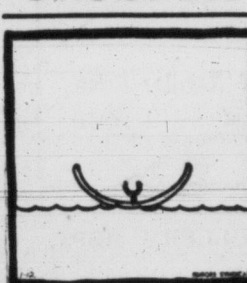

"Some of the daughters," said Mr. Audain, "threw some pretty costly parties which were very gay affairs. Champagne flowed like water and so did the money. They were the talk of Europe."

One daughter, Eleanore, a clever, talented woman, had one great passion, gambling, Mr. Audain said. She hobbled with the rulers of Europe, financiers and the wealthy and became in her time the greatest woman gambler.

Eleanore made and lost huge fortunes overnight. She finally retired to British Columbia.

"I can't tell you all the story," said Mr. Audain. "The book in some respects is a tragedy. It is a story of laughter and tears."

DROODLES

This Doodle idea came to me while watching one of those Medical Dramas on Television.

You can't turn on your set these days without getting involved in someone's operation. Night time TV has finally caught on to the daytime serial technique.

No love, humor or entertainment. Just plenty of pain, suffering and anesthetic. First we had people wallowing about their miseries on Give Away programs; now we have close ups of their adhesions on Medical Dramas. I hate to think of the next step. Probably a show called "Rest in Peace," which will take you to a new and different funeral every week. Personally, my reaction to this trend is "ick!" I got enough aches and pains of my own without kibitzing someone else's.

SCHOOL SITE FIGHT Aired In Court Here

A village council and a school board are waging a legal battle in B.C. Court of Appeal here over the site for a $500,000 school.

Dawson Creek village council is appealing against a lower court order that it issue a building permit to the Peace River School Board for the construction of a school building approved by ratepayers in 1954.

Council has refused to issue the permit. It does not want the school built on a site selected by school trustees because it is zoned for commercial and business purposes. It wants the building erected in another part of the village.

VILLAGE DIVIDED

Dawson Creek's entire population of 6,000 is divided over the issue.

School trustees claimed ratepayers endorsed construction of the school last year on certain lands owned by the board. But the village council since then has refused to issue the building permit unless the school is constructed on another site.

Chief Justice Wendell E. Farris of the Supreme Court last year issued a writ of mandamus ordering the council to issue the permit. The council is now appealing against the order on the grounds that the judge erred in his decision.

The case is continuing.

RETAILERS ASK Handling Fee On Empties

Coast-to-coast campaign which started today by the Retail Merchants Association of Canada for a one-cent handling charge on all empty soft drink bottles, revenue going to store operators, drew quick criticism from soft drink distributors here today.

"It's ridiculous. We don't make that ourselves," said R. V. Drewry, manager, Canada Dry Bottling Co. (Victoria) Ltd.

Retailers now had a "good" mark-up on bottles, he said, with the chance of "second purchases" by people returning bottles and getting merchandise in exchange.

Bottle refund to the consumer is two cents for small pop bottles and five cents on larger bottles. This is the same price retailers pay manufacturers or distributors.

Malkin Grant of Winnipeg, president of the national food division of the association, said in Vancouver that handling of soft drink empties had been a sore spot with retailers for years. Retailers contacted here generally agreed.

But feeling among distributors in Victoria is that they, too, are worried—about the high taxation they must pay and bottle costs.

Tray Holds All Sizes Of Knives, Forks, Spoons

By PENNY SAVER

Is your silverware scattered hither and yon? Do you have trouble trying to keep the long serving spoons, forks and knives together. If so... say goodbye to your worries... here's a tray that has an extra long section just for such unwieldy objects. In yellow or green, the trays have the usual divided sections for knives, forks and spoons and will fit very comfortably into your kitchen-size drawers, or cupboards. They're made in two sizes, 95 cents and $1.20... and worth every penny.

I've finally tried using a cook-fried onion rings are very, very... no, not the meat thermometer, but one for liquids, such as candy and deep fat. They are wonderful!

I was truly surprised at the low price of some fluffy, warm baby quilts I saw recently. Soft chinchilla in sky blue was pieced together to give a patchwork effect. Feather stitching was all hand done, and the quilt was very expertly finished... for $3.95, this is a wonderful baby blanket. A larger blanket of white, pink, blue or yellow wool was selling for $8.95. This one is hand-woven, and a real beauty.

Interwoven satin ribbon and matching satin binding gave a plush appearance to a soft, cuddly coverlet that measures 54 inches by 27 inches. The delicate colors of the wool are beautifully complemented by the soft colors of the ribbons attached.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Stretch and Rhythm Vital in Exercises

So called "setting up" exercises are as outmoded as the moustache cup, face chalk, the model T car and fainting spells.

There are teachers who still instruct in the old-fashioned way but most know that the stretch and the relaxation obtained from exercise, is most important. So when you do your exercises remember these three tenets.

Do the exercises best for your own needs, to music, in a rhythmic way. Take time for the stretch and the relaxation will follow. So will better muscle tone as well as a speedup in circulation and respiration and a reduction in measurements. Also be certain to start in slowly and work up gradually. In the number of times you do your exercises, and the number you take.

One of the first signs of aging in the figure is the upper inner leg line. The following exercise is easy to do and will be beneficial. Take four long, slow steps forward. Reach far forward. Stop and bounce up and down four times in place. Continue, taking four long steps and then bouncing up and down four times in place. You can do this to music.

Another: lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, a little out from your sides. Lift both legs upward to right angles to your body. Separate the legs as far as comfortable. Bring them together again. Continue separating them and then bringing them together until tired. Lower your legs to the floor and rest for a few moments. Then repeat.

A few simple exercises done daily will do wonders for your figure. This routine should include at least one thigh exercise (these two are good for outer leg line as well as inner leg line.) You should also take one for the abdomen, one for the hips and one for the waist. Actually it is a good idea to concentrate on the abdominal muscles with two exercises daily because they are so important.

Never use a bleach on fabric gloves. Apart from possible fabric fading or damage, bleaching may weaken the sewing and cause the glove to pop apart at the seams.

tested abdominal exercises which will strengthen the muscles and take inches from that measurement, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Follow these hints when storing bacon fat: Store in small jars so bottom won't get rancid; date or number each jar, use oldest first; store in refrigerator.

Shower curtains are getting fuzzy again, too. Now there are terry cloth ones that are water repellent and also have thin plastic liners. Texture interest need not pass by the shower with these items.

If you have a big box of brand-new clothespins, wash them in a salt-water solution before using. They will last longer this way and will not freeze on—the clothes when there's ice in the air these cold days.

War Orphans Remembered Through Foster Parents

Hundreds of once-forgotten children were remembered this holiday season through Canadians who have become foster parents of young victims of war in Europe and Korea. Members of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children shopped and mailed early to make sure that parcels were received in time for the big day in all the far-off countries where the children live.

The Foster Parents' Plan has been active in the U.S. since 1937, and in Canada since 1950. During the last few years, Canadians have responded in large numbers to the need for financial support of orphaned destitute war waifs. Parenthood in the plan implies a financial, not a legal, responsibility. Although a few Canadian foster parents have actually seen their children during trips abroad, most of them know them only by letters, snapshots, and reports from plan workers in the field.

The tie that binds is very strong, nevertheless. Typical of many instances where parents are members of a group is the foster parent group in the office of a Montreal advertising agency. Staff members have been contributing to the support of a little French girl for almost four years. Marguerite Peyrat is 13 now, and getting to be a big girl. Her letters to her "parents" come frequently, and are full of statistics about her increasing size, a subject of considerable interest because, although she has indeed improved, little Marguerite is still a patient in a TB sanatorium.

Marguerite's own parents were active in the French underground during the war, and in 1944 were shot by the Gestapo. She and her three sisters were taken in by relatives for a while, but this was only a temporary answer to the problem of the care of a little girl who was already a victim of tuberculosis. She was found by the Foster Parents' workers, and soon after that acquired a whole office staff of doting parents.

The Foster Parents' plan began in Spain in 1937, founded as an emergency measure by an English newspaperman who saw the plight of the bombed-out orphans of Madrid. The emergency has never ceased, and now more foster parents are sought to rescue the children of Korea. Full information about the plan can be obtained from the Canadian director, Miss Gloria Matthews, Box 60, Station "B," Montreal.

SHE MADE THEM PAY

Chasing Husbands Full-Time Job in the Past 35 Years

TORONTO (CP)—As a police woman and as probation officer of Toronto's juvenile and family court, Mary Phillips has been chasing errant husbands for 35 years.

She sees that men who desert their families keep up payments ordered by the court for support of wives and children.

Interviewed on her retirement recently, Miss Phillips discussed the desertion problem as she has watched it grow over the years.

When a case of desertion comes up we try to do everything in our power to keep it out of court and get an amicable financial agreement between husband and wife.

There are many happy endings too. One couple got together after the husband had paid for his family's support for nearly 20 years.

Miss Phillips does not put all blame in family troubles on the deserting husband.

"Some husbands are just wonderful," she said. "They may not be able to get along with their wives but many have been contributing faithfully to their support for more than 20 years."

Other officers elected are: Mrs. Jean Jones, first vice-president; Sister Mary Alena, second; Miss Gertrude Ballard, recording secretary; Miss Mary McMillan, corresponding and Canadian Nurse; Mrs. R. Bosward, treasurer; Miss M. Wooliams, membership; Mrs. D. Myers, press.

Mrs. M. Croft, program; Miss

Conyers, office nurse; Mrs. A. Damon, private duty; Mrs. J. McKinnon, public health and community welfare; Mrs. E. Butler, Local Council of Women; Miss C. Jackson, disaster and emergency nursing; Mrs. J. Jones, social convener, and Miss J. Bompas, sick-visiting.

Club Women's News
Mrs. Beevers re-elected—At recent meeting of Royal Roads Chapter IODE, Mrs. G. Beevers was re-elected regent by acclamation. Mrs. J. C. F. Blowey, educational secretary, reported that 25 parcels had been sent to the adopted school. Mrs. A. McLure reported that on her visit to Veterans' Hospital, she took gifts to the chapter's adopted patients and also fruit cake, candy and cosmetics.

PTA NOTES
Tolmie—At Tolmie PTA meeting Monday evening, films on "Shyness" and "Allergies" were shown and discussed. Refreshments were served under co-sponsorship of Mrs. F. Johnston.

Mother-in-Law Listens In on Telephone Talks

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Sharing a house with in-laws can cause a lot of trouble. The best way to put an end to this is to move away.

(Q)—“We live on the second floor of a house my husband's parents own. We have our own apartment but our phone is the same as theirs. My mother-in-law always answers the phone as soon as it rings. If it is for me she doesn't hang up when she hears me on the line, but listens while I talk. This infuriates me. Also, whenever I go out of the house, I see her coming to the window to watch where I am going. I don't think it is any of her affair. I feel as if I were being spied on. My husband likes living in the same house as his folks; he likes to go down stairs to see them in the evenings. We have no children and could live anywhere we wanted. I think his parents count on the rent we pay them, but I tell my husband they could rent the apartment to someone else. How can I convince him that I am not happy as things are now?”

(A)—From what you have said I infer that your husband is something of a “Mama's boy” who would never believe you if you suggested that his mother “spies” on you. Therefore you would have to have a better argument than that to persuade him to move.

So far as you are concerned, it is essential to get away. Of course your mother-in-law should not listen in on your telephone conversations. Most people would not stoop to such a thing.

It may be just idle curiosity that makes her look out of the window every time you leave the house, but at the same time it is bound to be annoying to a grown woman.

Couldn't you persuade your husband that you want to have a small house in the country so you can have a garden? Or think up some other good reason for wanting to move far enough away from your in-laws that they will not interfere in your life.

If you're teaching a daughter to sew and you can't afford mistakes, let her start on crepe paper. Save scraps for her to try fancy stitches or the machine on. Let her start with a super-simple printed pattern.

First Negress in N.Y. Assembly

Mrs. Bessie A. Buchanan, 52, of New York City, examines her certificate of election at her home before leaving for Albany where she will take the oath of office as a member of the New York State Assembly. Mrs. Buchanan is the first woman of the Negro race ever elected to the Assembly. She has been prominent in civic and philanthropic affairs in the Harlem area for 20 years.

FASHION NOTES

If you soak in a hot tub, give yourself a quick facial at the same time: smear your face with petroleum jelly. The steam and cream will smooth the skin.

Most women realize the delights of nylon lingerie that needs no ironing. But don't forget, if you're wearing a pencil-slim outfit, all the lace, appliques and edgings should lie flat under your dress or suit. Even if it takes a touch of the iron.

If you can't afford real mink, not even mink buttons, indulge yourself with nylon lingerie that's mink-printed. Have wild mink or platinum shades in gown, negligee and petticoat.

Two Talented Musicians to Play Tonight

Two outstanding artists who divide their time and talents between Vancouver and Victoria will be heard in recital tonight at the Sirocco, when Victoria Musical Art Society presents Clifford Evans, violinist, and Lloyd Powell, pianist, as their guest artists for January.

Mr. Evans, concert master of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, will be heard in the Vivaldi Concerto, sonata in D minor for violin alone by Ysaie (a first performance in Victoria), Saint-Saens' Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso, and a modern group.

Mr. Powell, who has given several intimate recitals in Victoria, when he charmed and delighted his audiences, is a recitalist of considerable experience, of whom the Manchester Guardian has said: "Few players have so much recourse or so self-composed a way of administering justice to the staff of the Royal College of Music in London, he was also on the examining faculty of the Associated Board and traveled, lectured and concertized in South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India, Canada and the West Indies before deciding to settle in Vancouver."

He will play a Faure Sonata in A Major as well as accompanying Mr. Evans.

Recorded Lunchtime Concerts to Resume

Arts Centre's recorded concerts, held at 12.30, Fridays, at the Moss Street galleries, are starting their sixth year this coming Friday.

These concerts have become increasingly popular in the last two years. Lasting for an hour and a half, with an interval for tea, which is provided by the gallery, they can be enjoyed by those who wish to bring their lunch and relax to music during the noon recess.

The general public is welcome to make use of this Arts Centre service for which there is no charge other than the usual admission to the gallery.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Today's hand produced a neat swindle at several tables when it was played in the recent Winter National Tournament in Atlanta.

When the South hand was held by Alvin Landy, a member of the quintet that won the men's team championship, the bidding took the course shown in the diagram. Landy wasn't happy to bid no-trump with such a sketchy diamond holding, but he couldn't see what else to do with his rather powerful hand.

There was a fine chance that North had a little help in diamonds, and there was also the chance that the enemy would stay away from the suit.

West opened the seven of hearts, and Landy counted his tricks. Obviously he could win three heart tricks by playing low from the dummy at the first trick. But he would then have to develop the clubs to make his contract, and the opponents would surely shift to diamonds in desperation when it became clear that they could get nowhere with the hearts.

To prevent a shift to diamonds, Landy went right up with dummy's ace of hearts at the first trick. He then led the queen of clubs from dummy and played the nine of clubs from his own hand.

The general idea was to make it safe and attractive for West to continue his heart suit and to indicate that the club suit wasn't long enough to be of much importance.

West took the second trick with the ace of clubs and wondered what to do next. It seemed to him that South had the king of diamonds but not the king of spades. Apparently South had won the first trick in dummy in order to save the king of hearts as a sure entry to the rest of his clubs.

If this were the case, it would be foolish in a tournament for West to lead diamonds and give South a trick with the king. At rubber bridge, West might get suspicious and lead a diamond, although even this isn't at all sure.

When this deceptive line of play was adopted at the Atlanta tournament, many defenders swallowed the bait. They returned the queen of hearts after taking the ace of clubs. South then had 10 sure tricks and actually won 12 tricks since West was sure to discard spades in a desperate attempt to defeat the contract.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By BILL PARKER

Out of the mouths of the CBC tub-thumpers comes word of the televising of the opening of Parliament in Ottawa, how they did it and what they intend to do about it.

The opening, as you know, took place last Friday and was carried direct to eastern television.

But since there is, as yet, no direct line across Canada capable of transmitting television, there is understandably a delay in telecasting proceedings here.

A long delay, too, for not until Jan. 18 will the filmed version of the event be shown.

The CBC went to great pains to televise the ceremony.

Three CBC television cameras were posted in the Senate Chamber to catch the Speech from the Throne, and other cameras were stationed outside to cover the arrival and departure of the governor-general and party.

A CBC official has said the opening was treated strictly as a news event. There was no need for make-up, as the lighting in the chamber is not too bright and no indirect methods of illumination enabled the televising to be carried out without undue glare from old-style Kleig lights.

'Fabulous' Parties Reported in Hideaway

Montreal Writer Says Laurentian Mountain Retreat Used to Entertain Ottawa Officials

MONTREAL (BUP)—A Montreal columnist said today that the plush country residence reportedly used to entertain government officials negotiating contracts with a private firm has been the scene of some "fabulous" parties.

Fitz, writing in his daily "On and Off the Record" column in The Gazette, said a person who had visited the residence, which he described as "a Laurentian (mountain) retreat," had called it "a Hollywood set-designer's dream."

Said the columnist:

"The entire property is protected by a formidable fence, and the only entrance is through a gateway constantly under guard. Admission is only after the visitor has been vouched for by the main lodge."

Fitz reported that accommodation and entertainment was "on a most lavish scale—with every possible convenience for the official being romanced."

The columnist, without naming his source, said greenhouses on the estate "provide fresh flowers in profusion" and reported that the entire residence is air-conditioned.

"It is staffed by an impressive array of servants, from butlers to handymen," Fitz added. "Not one of them will discuss anything that transpires inside the fence. But stories of some of the parties there have been fabulous."

The estate, whose existence was first disclosed before the income tax appeal board in Ottawa, was the subject of a brief discussion in the House of Commons Tuesday when Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent promised to investigate the matter.

The name of the company involved has never been disclosed. In the case before the income tax appeal board, which turned down the firm's request for a tax exemption on $27,789 it spent in 1951 to remodel the residence, it was referred to as "No. 227."

Mr. St. Laurent said he was "very much surprised" by the company's claim that it used the house to entertain unnamed government officials. He said he would try to find out whether government representatives had, in fact, been entertained there.

The income tax appeal board, in rejecting the company's bid for a tax exemption, did not rule on the propriety of the firm's methods.

Fifth Stay Of Execution For Chessman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman, who wrote a best-seller while in the death row for 6½ years, received Tuesday another stay of execution—his fifth. He was to have died in the gas chamber Friday.

Chessman was convicted of kidnapping and attempted rape and sentenced to death under California's habitual criminal law.

The reprieve was granted by Chief Judge William Denman of the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. Denman said he felt Chessman has a probable cause of appeal.

The stay of execution prevails until a further order of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The 33-year-old author of "Cell 2455, Death Row" had exhausted his avenue of appeal to the State Supreme Court which on four previous occasions rejected his pleas.

Escalator Injury Wins Boy $5,514

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gerald John Griffin, seven-year-old former Vancouver boy now living in Toronto, will have $5,514 accumulating interest until he is 21 as compensation for the loss of two fingers in a fall on an escalator.

Counsel for the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Griffin, who moved to Toronto after the accident in March, 1952, told Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson Tuesday that the youngster was holding his mother's hand, but fell forward as he reached the stationary platform at the top of the Hudson's Bay Company escalator.

Mr. Justice Wilson approved the settlement offered by the company, giving the parents $486 for medical expenses and $500 for legal fees, as well as $5,514 for the injured boy.

Two of Montreal Youth's Brothers in Priesthood

Mrs. Marius Ferragne learned of the slaying of one priest when told her youngest son, 18, was formally charged with murder in the death of Rev. Alfred Quirion, whose body was found in his car near Brandon, The Roman Catholic priest had been shot to death.

The charge, laid jointly against three Montreal district youths, also named Claude Paquin, 17, and Gerard Yvon De Tonnancourt, 18. All are Roman Catholics.

The two priests in the Ferragne family are Oblate missionaries, and one now is home on leave from Africa. The other is in Chile. Mrs. Ferragne said

Bringing Up Baby

Ever wonder why baby puts most everything he can manage into that sweet, rose-bud mouth? The experts tell us that the mouth is baby's "first great teacher." With it, he gets the first taste of one of the great pleasures of life, comforting food.

Next, "mouthing" teaches baby texture and shape. When little teeth make their debut, gnawing is the first step in learning how to chew!

Safety first. You'll feel easier if you keep baby's horizon clear of all easy-to-swallow objects. Pliable, washable toys, small enough to chew (but too big to swallow), help keep baby "mouth happy."

Strengthening subject. Meat, as you probably know, is one of the best-known sources of the complete proteins so vital to growth and the development of all body structures.

All Gerber's Meats for babies... both Strained and Junior, are rich in strength-giving proteins. Made from selected savory cuts, they're specially processed for minimum fat and fiber... are easy as milk to digest. All 100% meat with just enough broth to give the pleasant texture and flavor babies like. 6 Strained Meats, 3 Junior Meats for tots with a few teeth.

Short cut to longer life for little clothes. An ingenious mother writes: "When Barbara outgrows her dresses, I snip 'em off slightly and use them for blouses under little jumpers. They're charming."

Vitamin C... easy as 1-2-3. No squeezing, no straining to give baby the precious Vitamin C he needs every day. Gerber's Strained Orange Juice is specially processed for babies. It's made from tree-ripened oranges, selected for uniform Vitamin C content and fine strained so it can be fed from bottle, cup or spoon.

He Traps—a Mile From City Hall

Alex Patterson holds sleek mink beside family of muskrats taken in his traps Tuesday night. His trappings wend through downtown Victoria, has taken 300 muskrats and five mink in last month. He also snares otter and racoon. (Photo by Irving Strickland.)

WHY BRAVE ARCTIC'S ICY COLD?

Part-Time Trapper Gets Furs Without Leaving City Limits

By PETE LOUDON
A thriving trap-line which snares its owner hundreds of dollars annually in pelts of mink, muskrat, raccoon and otter, operates within a mile of Victoria City Hall, it was revealed today.
In the last month, Alex Patterson, who must be one of Canada's most urban trappers, has taken 300 muskrat and five mink.
Most of the traps are within sight-range of thousands of Victorians who probably imagine the fur industry is relegated to frozen Arctic wastes or the rugged regions of the interior.
It isn't so. And Vancouver Island Coach Lines mechanic, 34-year-old Patterson, has got the pelts to prove it—pelts that rank with the best taken anywhere in Canada.
120 TRAPS IN U.S.
Patterson, who is married and has three children, lives at 897 Vernon between trips over his 120 traps. He holds a trapper's license which costs him $10 a year.
He's been making Victoria district furbearing animals pay off in big money since he was seven. And he did it all on the sly.
But between duck-hunters, mischievous children and wandering dogs and cats, he's got trouble now which only some publicity can cure.
"Please," he says, "tell them to leave my traps alone." Eight were stolen this year.
He suspects duck-hunters with walking off with many of his expensive traps. Children who have come across some of his furry victims have destroyed valuable pelts by poking at his catch with pointed sticks. And what dogs and cats and carnivorous birds do to a prime pelt can't be printed.

DOGS TROUBLESOME

Dogs cause him other trouble too. Once he caught one in a muskrat trap and the SPCA threatened him with prosecution.

Animals and children are quite safe if they don't get too noisy. Alex's traps are set to provide a quick death by drowning for his victims. Only racoons, which he calls the worst pest to farmers and poultry raisers, have to be dispatched with an air-pistol.
Born on a Keating farm, Alex turned to trapping when he was seven. Muskrats were burrowing and damming water on the farm and rapidly turning it into a swamp. While at school he

FARMERS WANT RAND FORMULA

REGINA (CP)—Fred Woloshyn, resident of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, said Tuesday night that a union delegation received a "cool" reception from the provincial cabinet on union proposals for a modified version of the Rand formula for agriculture.
The union in its annual brief to the cabinet Tuesday asked legislation to implement a tax on Saskatchewan farms for support of the farm organization. The original proposal, based on a labor decree, would make the tax compulsory although farmers would not have to join the union.

trapped as a hobby. Fourteen years ago he became a mechanic at Vancouver Island Coach Lines. He works nights and for three months every winter, he devotes every morning to a tour of his traps.
Using his car, it takes him three hours and $10 a month in gas to check his lines in Bowker Creek, Colquitz River, Gorge, and the harbor area.

KNOWS ALL ANGLES

The summers Alex spends in study of animal eating and living habits. He knows their tracks and reads them like a newspaper. He knows a type of burr which muskrats eat which discolors their pelts unless they are skinned immediately.
He knows how owls and eagles prey on his lines and he knows the secret weapon of the mink.
He saw a rare golden eagle pounce on one of his traps once and become snared. Largest ever taken in B.C. west of the Rockies, it had a 56-inch wingspread. He presented it to the provincial museum.
Mink, says Alex, are armed like skunks, with scent glands. So far they've always missed him, but been close enough to make his eyes water, he recalls.
Muskrats and 'coons will tame like rabbits in three weeks, he says, but if they bite, they rarely let go.

Dr. Sheppard's Father Reported Seriously Ill

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, 65-year-old father of convicted wife-killer Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, lay gravely ill in Cleveland Clinic today with pleurisy.
News of his condition was brought to Sheppard Tuesday afternoon at the county jail here where he is being held pending a court of appeals ruling on a defense motion for a new trial.
The ruling is expected Monday on Dr. Sam's Dec. 21 conviction for second-degree murder in the July 4 bludgeoning of his 31-year-old pregnant wife.

Halifax Tug Races to Aid Helpless Ship

Freighter Holed, Without Pumps

HALIFAX (CP)—The tug Foundation Josephine raced through the North Atlantic today with a battery of portable pumps needed to keep a listing British freighter afloat.

The tug was last reported about 180 miles from the turbulent patch of ocean south of Newfoundland where the 7,074-ton merchantman La Orilla is riding out a 40-knot gale with her plates holed and her bilge pumps useless.

Agents for the stricken vessel here said La Orilla carried a cargo of lead concentrates which tons of sea water pouring into No. 2 hold had turned "into nothing but mud." The sludge had seeped into the bilges, putting the pumps out of commission.

MIDNIGHT RENDEZVOUS

The Josephine, veteran of many a sea salvage and towing operation, was expected to reach La Orilla's position 280 miles south of Cape Race, Nfld., about midnight.

The freighter will be towed here if pumps can be put aboard in time to keep her from sinking.

Capt. T. L. Bradford, master of the 7,047-ton merchantman, reported Tuesday that gales and giant seas punched a hole below the waterline and water was pouring into No. 2 hold.

He said the ship had a 12-degree list and there was a danger her cargo would shift.

NO WORD OF LEAVING

Messages from Capt Bradford made no mention of leaving the craft to the gale-ravaged sea.

She was en route to La Havre with cargo picked up here and at Saint John, N.B.

The United States Coast Guard diverted the cutter Cook Inlet, en route to Boston from Argentina, Nfld., after intercepting distress calls from La Orilla.

The U.S. military sea transport service's Blue Jacket pushed her way through storm-tossed waves from Argentina and the freighter Tel Aviv moved along side the stricken ship.

Will Walk Off Jobs

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Union representatives for 94 electricians at Burrard Dry Dock here announced the workers will walk off their jobs Thursday to back up wage demands. The walkout would put another 800 workers at the shipyard out of work.

KITIMAT (BUP)—A new $1,450,000 housing development of 100 homes is scheduled to start here early this year, officials of the N. W. Hullah Construction Co., West Vancouver, B.C., has announced.

After the impact, the Gawthrop car climbed a curb, went across a sidewalk and onto a flower bed at 2660 Blackwood.

Break With Party Boss

ROME (UP)—A group of Communist rebels broke today with party boss Palmiro Togliatti and circulated an appeal to their 2,000,000 Italian comrades to "revolt" against his "personal rule and political tyranny."

The party-splitting appeal, circulated clandestinely among delegates to the fourth Communist national conference here, was drafted by members of the party's old guard.

After the secretary-general arrives in New York.

American officials fervently hoped for release of the American fliers before exponents of a China blockade try to force a showdown.

President Eisenhower at his news conference today was not asked about nor did he volunteer any comment about Hammar's mission or new recommendations by Adm. Arthur R. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, for a naval blockade of China if the Reds refuse to free the Americans.

He said he expects that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U.S. representative at the U.N., will see Hammar's

TWO RAF BOMBERS MISSING; 16 ABOARD

LONDON (AP)—Two four-engined RAF bombers carrying 16 men disappeared over the wind-whipped Atlantic Tuesday night while on practice flights.
A sea and air hunt is being pressed in an area about 180 miles southwest of Land's End. Dense cloud and a 29-knot wind hampered the search.
The two Shackleton bombers left the St. Eval RAF base in Cornwall early Tuesday evening.
Shackletons are long-range maritime aircraft which carry life rafts and life belts.

Spectacular Crash Sends 4 to Hospital

Former B.C. Official Trapped in Wreck After Rush-Hour Collision on Hillside

Two persons suffered multiple fractures and two others escaped with minor injuries in a spectacular two-car collision at Blackwood and Hillside at 8:20 a.m. today.

Injured were:

John Gawthrop, 60, 1115 Leonard. He received a fractured left hip and knee and was in a bad state of shock on arrival at Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Stapleton, 24, 164 Cambridge. She suffered multiple fractures of the pelvis and a fractured left shoulder.

RCMP Officer Arnold Gawthrop, 21, 1115 Leonard, was treated for an injured left side and multiple bruises and discharged from hospital.

Rudolph Zembrod, 16, 1202 Fort, was also discharged after treatment for minor hurts.

Two ambulances and one police plover car were used to rush the injured to hospital.

Police said John Gawthrop, former regional director of the provincial government development division and now business manager of the provincial mental home, was the driver of a car traveling north on Blackwood.

He was pulling out onto Hillside when in collision with a 1955-model car driven by Zembrod.

Damage was heavy to both autos and police had to use a bar to free the elder Gawthrop from his vehicle.

After the impact, the Gawthrop car climbed a curb, went across a sidewalk and onto a flower bed at 2660 Blackwood.

Front of the 1955 auto was smashed and the steering wheel bent. It was also believed the frame was bent.

The 1955 car is owned by Frank Mack, 2537 Killarney. Zembrod was taking the car to a garage for its first 1,000-mile check-up.

Amateur Club Wins Soccer Cup Replay

LONDON (Reuters)—Bishop Auckland, a leading northern amateur club, swept into the fourth round of the English Football Association Cup competition today.

They outplayed their professional Second Division opponents, Ipswich Town, to win 3-0. The match was one of seven third-round replays contested today on frozen, snow-covered turf.

Other scores:
Bradford City 2, Brentford 2 (tie after extra time).

Darlington 2, Hartlepool United 2 (tie after extra time).

Liverpool 1, Lincoln City 0 (after extra time).

Manchester United 4, Reading 1.

Stoke City 1, Bury 1 (tie, abandoned eight minutes from end of extra time because of snow).

Torquay United 4, Leeds United 0.

Education Minister Ray Williston stepped into the hotly contentious, separate-public schools issue Tuesday with a statement strongly indicating no government aid will be forthcoming for separate schools.

Mr. Williston said: "We're committed to a public schools system in B.C., and I see no indication of any change in that policy at the moment."

Canadian Reported Dead In Kentucky Tragedy

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Two planes collided in the air several miles southwest of the Greater Cincinnati airport near here today, killing 15 persons.

Ten passengers in a Trans World Airlines plane and three crew members were killed. The other two persons were in a Douglas DC-3 plane.

(One Canadian, Stanley W. Wharton, Ottawa, was reported aboard.)

What caused the two planes to collide may never be learned. The airport management said the TWA craft had been cleared only a few minutes earlier and that the other plane was not known to be in the vicinity. The airliner was en route to Dayton and Cleveland, Ohio.

The other plane, with pilot Arthur Werkhaven and co-pilot Edward Agner of Battle Creek, Mich., was said to be owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lennep, and came into Kentucky from Battle Creek. Mrs. Lennep is the former Frances Dodge.

Nearly three hours afterward, a portion of it still was smoldering.

Rescue workers were able to remove six bodies, but the others still were in ruins.

The other plane fell about two miles away.

A similar mid-air collision between a Trans-Canada Air Lines passenger plane and an RCAF training plane at Moose Jaw last April killed 37 persons. There were no survivors and a woman was killed on the ground.

Costa Rica Capital Strafed by Aircraft

Raider Reported From Nicaragua Downed By Anti-Aircraft Fire; Troops Clash

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, (AP)—An air raider described as "a Venezuelan pursuit plane which came from Nicaragua" machine-gunned San Jose today and then was shot down by anti-aircraft fire, the civil guard announced.

The raider, which looked like an American-built P-47 Thunderbolt of Second World War vintage, buzzed the downtown area of this capital city and loosed machine-gun bursts at a residential sector. This came as government troops battled in the north to clear a rebel band from the Villa Quiesca area, about midway between San Jose and the Costa Rican-Nicaragua frontier.

Three bursts were aimed into the section surrounding the Costa Rican White House, the home of President Jose Figueres.

The plane was climbing rapidly as it passed the San Jose airport control tower. A lumbering DC-3 of the Laca airlines, armed with machine guns in its side doors, took off in pursuit.

TAIPEI, Formosa, (UP)—Chinese Nationalist defenders of the Tachen Islands said today they expect the Communists to launch a full-scale attack "at any moment" as a follow-up to Monday's massive Red bombing.

A Nationalist central news agency correspondent at Tachen quoted military authorities on the island bastion as saying the Reds had completed preparations and would launch the attack at any time.

A military spokesman at Tachen said Monday's Red attack was aimed at cutting the Nationalist supply line. It also served as a challenge to the United States 7th Fleet guarding the Strait of Formosa, he said.

A reporter who witnessed the Monday attacks said a Nationalist ship crippled by the Reds was chased eight times in 48 hours as it limped across the strait on its way back to Formosa.

The reporter said Communist planes apparently ignored U.S. navy ships in the area.

The United States is committed to defend Formosa but has never made it clear whether this includes the 300-mile string of Nationalist island outposts close to the Chinese mainland.

Chinese Nationalists heavy bombers today attacked Communist position in the Tachen Islands.

The Organization of American States ordered a five-country commission to fly here today to investigate the incident.

New Catholic Plea on School Costs Rebuffed by Education Minister

Education Minister Ray Williston stepped into the hotly contentious, separate-public schools issue Tuesday with a statement strongly indicating no government aid will be forthcoming for separate schools.

Mr. Williston said: "We're committed to a public schools system in B.C., and I see no indication of any change in that policy at the moment."

In recent months, the controversy has been revived through the appearance before the cabinet of two delegations—one representing Roman Catholic separate schools, the other representing opponents of aid to separate schools.

Roman Catholic residents of B.C. pay $8,000,000 annually in school taxes to finance public schools. The 172,000

Catholics pay, in addition, for their own separate schools. The Catholic delegation appearing before the cabinet asked for some form of financial relief.

Delegates to the B.C. Federation of Labor (CCL) convention in Vancouver last week urged a Royal Commission be appointed to study the question. Mr. Williston would not comment on the resolution.
